...Norwegians, the Dutch and the French. Their trouble was doing "too little, too late."
Then, what are you waiting for?

BONDS OR BOMBS?

That's the question you have to answer!
Even though you weren't there to hear the bombs at Pearl Harbor, to see the plunder
of the Philippines,
to cheer the boys at Bataan,
the war is all around you.
It's everywhere . . .
At the neighbor's house where a mother prays for her boy
in uniform . . .
At the mill down the road
where men you know
work night and day
faster, faster, faster . . .
At home on your pantry shelf
in the old sugar-can . . .
At your very feet!
The Mikado's henchmen
9000 miles away took your tires,
so you walk.
You have the courage to take it,
but is that enough?
History answers NO.
The Czechs took it.
So did the Austrians, the Poles,
the Danes, the Norwegians,
the Belgians, the Dutch
and the French. Their trouble was doing "too little, too late."
Then, what are you waiting for?

DON'T

1. Don't buy gadgets because a selfish voice says a bit of metal more or less won't matter. Remember that your gadget may cheat a boy in battle of a gun. Weigh his need against yours.

2. Don't figure there's time enough later to buy Bonds while now you spend all you get, as fast as it comes in, on bargains.

3. Don't spend for glamor today what you'll need for living tomorrow. A budget padded with extravagance now is the prelude to a skimpy budget in the future.

4. Don't buy from the profiteers, the bootleggers, the "black marketeers." Buying from them wrecks rationing, boosts prices and breaks the law, cheats you and the boys at the front, and helps nobody but Hitler and his henchmen.

YOU direct the Strategy of this war, just as much as the generals. The way you buy and the way you spend, the way you think and the way you set the way of this war. Your dollars talk loud to American industry. Make them shout for guns, not gadgets.

YOU can make heroes of our boys in uniform, or you can make martyrs. You can send them to battle with guns and tanks, planes and ships, or you can send them with bare hands to face Axis bullets. Take your pick. Here's your choice, between Don't and Do.

DO

1. Put every penny you can into War Bonds and Stamps. Bonds and Stamps buy munitions. Munitions are a matter of life-and-death to MacArthur's men in the Pacific.

2. Get after all the wage-earners in your family to sign up wherever they work for Pay Roll or Stamp Savings, and see that they stick to it.

3. Write Bonds in your budget book, and sign up at the bank for Bond deductions from your account. Bonds gather interest, and pay you back handsomely in 10 years. Right now they fight inflation.

4. Play fair on rationing, and pay not a penny more than the Government top price wherever you shop. Ask for your change in War Stamps, paste the Stamps in an album, and when you get enough Stamps, exchange them for a Bond at the Post Office or bank.

DON'T

5. Don't tell tales about the war. Hitler brags that rumors, "mental confusion, panic" are his weapons to divide and destroy us. False words, like venom, poison the unwary.

6. Don't leave your war work for somebody else to do, because it interferes with fun and frolic. Don't figure that next week is time enough to start. Good intentions alone won't win the war.

7. Don't shove the whole job of your child's thrift training on the school teacher. She'll do her share, but what she preaches about war savings will mean more if you put her precepts into practice at home.

8. Don't mope and complain because war work takes the men in your family away from home in the evening. Wives out of step will make men falter at the most vital task. Remember that it's your home America is fighting to preserve.

DO

5. Talk Bonds and Stamps to your family, friends, neighbors, and associates. Help to canvass your neighborhood for war savings. A word for Bonds is a word against the Axis.

6. Put your shoulder to the wheel for war savings. There's plenty to do now at War Savings Headquarters. Sign up with the Women's Committee, and set up a committee in your own pet organization.

7. Explain war savings to the children. Show them how to save from their allowances to buy Stamps at school. Join the Parent-Teachers Association and help put over the P. T. A. program for war savings.

8. Urge your men to attend war savings meetings and rallies. Go with them whenever you can, and help them. Fill your own time with war savings work. Men and women together must fight to preserve their homes. The morale of America is in your hands.

Can you afford to fiddle
while the world burns?
Can you afford to wait until the bombers lay their eggs of death in your own backyard?
Sure, you can take it, take it like the French did. You can hunger while the Fascists eat, and you can slave for der Fuehrer's gain, and break your back
'neath his crooked cross,
and give your children
to Hirohito's gods.
Or you can dish it out,
dish it out hot and heavy.
You can fight and help your men.
They turn the wheels

and sail the ships
with cargoes of guns
to far-off lands,
and fly the planes and

That's their way to answer the Axis.
You have a way too.

"And the Star-spangled Banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

"O say, can you see by the dawn's early light"

Oh, say! can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro the night that our flag was still there.
O, say, does that Star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

"On the shore dimly seen through the mists of the deep"

On the shore, dimly seen thro' the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the mornings first beam,
In full glory reflected, now shines on the stream:
'Tis the Star spangled Banner, Oh, long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

Dear America

Dear America, we love you,
Love your fields and plains and mountains,
Love the vastness of your borders,
Love the music of your fountains.

Dear america, we love you:
May dishonor touch you never!
May no enemy defile you,
May your banner wave forever!

Dear America, we love you,
Love you as our fatherland.
We are loyal to our country;
We are now at your command!

Flag of my country
Flag of my country
Floating above me
Proud in the sunshine,
Dear flag, I love thee!

Flag of my country,
To thee I'll be true
In all that I say
And all that I do.

Young America Speaks

I may be a sailor
Or fly a shining plane,
But I can be a soldier
And help win, just the same.

By guarding every action
And keeping calm and brave,
I too will be defending
The land men fight to save.

A Shrine

There is a shine at Arlington,
An unkown soldiers grave.
A listening nation, eager, tense,
Pays tribute to those brave
And gallant men who gave their lives
In that war not long ago;
And now, as then this nation stands
By the flag against the foe.

The Unknown Soldier represents
All those who died to save Boy of today. God grand them now
From an unknown soldiers grave!
Lets keep our nation ever strong,
But keep it ever right;
It strength a refuge for the weak;
A guardian in its might!
