Women's Gloves in the Oklahoma Fashion Museum Collection at the University of Central Oklahoma Forward by Mary Huffman

History of the Collection

The Fashion Museum Collection housed at the University of Central Oklahoma (UCO) contains 167 pairs of vintage women's gloves which are shown on the following pages. Most of the gloves are from the 1940s through early 1960s when gloves were popular. They were donated to the Fashion Group, Inc. of Oklahoma City between 1984 and 1994 by prominent women in Oklahoma. In 1989 the collection was donated to UCO when the Fashion Group disbanded. Until 2016 the items were in storage and seldom used.

In 2016 the glove collection was reorganized, inventoried and photographed under the direction of Mary Huffman (Coordinator of Grants and Contracts in the College of Education and Professional Studies at UCO). This volume contains photographs, descriptions, and detail information about each pair of gloves.

Designers and Countries of Origin

Some of the designers represented in this collection include: Andres David, ARIS of Paris, Bacmo, Catello D'Auria, Chireau, Christian Dior, FFJ Creation, Fownes, Hammer of Hollywood, Ireland's Lavando, Kay Fuchs, Lilly Dache, Marcel Wagner, and Viola Weinberger. Also, some were custom made for the individual patrons in France.

The countries of origin include: Belgium, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany (USA Zone), Hong Kong, Italy, Philippines USA and West Germany.

Buttons and Lengths

The gloves in this volume are grouped according to their length. The length of the glove is expressed in "buttons", which is an antique French unit of measurement. These measurements are taken from the bottom of the thumb seam to the top of the glove.

- Shorties: less than 8" long
- 2 Button: 8-9" long
- 4 Button: 10-11" long and cover the wrist.
- 6 Button: 12-13" long. These were a favorite length for daytime wear.
- 8 Button: 14-15" long and reach to the upper forearm, also known as "three-quarter" length gloves.
- 12 Button: 18-19" long – reaches up to and just over the elbow.

- 16 Button: 22-23” long – the classic OPERA length – mousquetaire wrist opening – ends at mid-bicep.
- 18 Button: 26” long
- 21 Button: 27-19” long – reaches to armpits – usually worn with strapless or sleeveless evening outfits

Tranks, Fourchettes, Quirks and Points

Gloves have a language of their own when it comes to describing them. The descriptions on the following pages contain several terms most people are not familiar with. Following are some of the terms used in the descriptions:

- Trank: A single side seam when the front, back, tops and bottoms of the fingers are cut in one piece
- Fourchette: A forked piece of material forming the sides of two adjacent fingers of a glove. Also called the “fork” or “forge”
- Quirk: An extra “V” gusset at the bottom of the fingers
- Points: Seam lines on the back of gloves

Other Notes:

Each pair of gloves was individually inspected for markings, flaws, stains, damage etc. If they had a tag, a stamp, or writing inside, individual pictures were taken and were included in the following pages. Mary Huffman assigned unique acquisition numbers, wrote the descriptions and prepared the publisher pages for this volume. A fashion photography student took the studio pictures on campus, and a museum studies student organized the gloves by size and measured them.

All of the gloves are stored in acid free museum boxes and each pair is individually wrapped.

Acknowledgements

My gratitude to the people who have helped me with this project. It took many hours and several people to make this collection accessible to others.

My appreciation and thanks to Dr. James Machell, the UCO Dean of the College of Education and Professional Studies (CEPS), for allowing me time to work with this collection.

Thanks to a U.S. Department of Education grant called “Student Transformative Learning Record (STLR)”, we received funding to hire students to work on this project.

I’d also like to thank the following people who assisted with this project:

Mr. Jesse Miller, UCO Professor in fashion photography who provided guidance to his STLR fashion photography student.

Kelsey Smith, a fashion photography student hired as a STLR student. She photographed the gloves in the studio in the Mass Communications building in December of 2016.

Jessica Rice, a UCO museum studies student at UCO was also hired as a STLR student. She organized the gloves by size, and recorded the measurements.
