THE HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL OKLAHOMA

The University of Central Oklahoma was first known as the Territorial Normal School, created by the Oklahoma Territorial legislature in December 1890 to educate teachers for the one-room school houses being built across the growing territory.

Central's first students met in Edmond's First Methodist Church. In 1892, construction began on the school's first building, Old North Tower, still standing today. Over the next century, more buildings would be added, moved, torn down or rebuilt. Grass would give construction added the Wellness Center, University Suites, the UCO Forensic Science Institute and the recently completed Center for Transformative Learning. The UCO Jazz Lab hosts world-renowned musicians on its stage and is consistently voted as a favorite venue in the Oklahoma City metro. The Academy of Contemporary Music, which opened in 2009, further solidified Central as an innovator in higher education.

Today, Central is enjoying a record enrollment of 17,101 students who are taking advantage of an opportunity-rich learning experience that includes 114 undergraduate and 54 graduate programs and 200-plus student organizations, along with unique partnerships like the university's designation as an official U.S. Olympic and Paralympic Training Site.

With award-winning sustainability efforts and beautification, students also enjoy an appealing campus that mirrors the quality of their education.

Using its core values of Character, Community and Civility, Central continues to cultivate creativity and innovation in every corner of campus, with a commitment to preparing future leaders through faculty and staff committed to transforming lives.

For more than 100 years, developing leaders for Oklahoma and the nation has been Central's bedrock mission.

From a territorial school of 23 students to more than 17,000 today, UCO has gone through many stages of development with more than 110,000 graduates. Now Oklahoma's third largest state university, UCO has six colleges, including the Jackson College of Graduate Studies.

way to parking lots for the huge commuter population of the '70s and '80s. Now grass grows over what used to be parking lots as the university has evolved into a beautifully landscaped campus meeting the needs of those seeking a traditional campus atmosphere while still serving the needs of the non-traditional student.

Central's evolution continues in the new century. Since 2000, new campus

SYMBOLS OF AUTHORITY

THE MACE

Among ancient orders, the mace was a heavy staff or club made of wood and metal that was borne by, carried before or placed near a magistrate or other dignitary as an ensign of authority. Central's Industrial Arts students and faculty constructed the university's mace. It is approximately 25 inches in length.

A miniature of Old North near its top is encompassed within a bronze crown. Thirteen pieces of solid walnut wood make up the majority of the mace. Old North is in pecan. The base on which the bronze medallion sits is rosewood. A bronze band encircling the mace is inscribed "University of Central Oklahoma."

THE MEDALLION

Beginning with the Spring 2008 commencement, UCO began using a new medallion. Designed and fabricated by Charleen D. Weidell, M.F.A., chair of the UCO Art Department, it was created as a lightweight piece for easy wearing with a contemporary, minimalist style. Sterling silver and gold overlay were used to create 18 pieces of hollow jewelry, each representing significant parts of the university and the educational experience. Blue sapphires and yellow cubic zirconia accent stones represent UCO's Bronze and Blue.

The focal point is the center piece designed to symbolize hands cupped around the flame of knowledge, being carefully passed one to another. Resting on the shoulders of the wearer are pieces representing wings, reminding that victory over ignorance and prejudice is fleeting, always in need of sustained effort. The wings also represent a desire for a guardian angel to protect the wearer as well as the event and tradition.

THE TRADITION OF ACADEMIC DRESS

The precise origins of the several parts of academic dress still remain a matter of conjecture. The unheated buildings which medieval scholars frequented may have necessitated the wearing of gowns for comfort's sake. The gowns and the hoods were common at British universities before the 14th century; the square cap is thought to be a 16th century import from the University of Paris. European universities continue to use a wide variety in the cut and color of gowns and the type of headdress worn.

Academic attire began to appear quite generally on United States campuses in the late 1890s. Since that time, its use has become universal for solemn university functions, and its pattern highly uniform. From the color and size of the American academic attire, one may determine the institution from which the wearer received the degree and the degree earned.

THE CAP

The mortarboard has become the universally accepted style in United States colleges and universities. The standard tassel worn by faculty is black. However those with doctorate degrees may wear a gold tassel. Candidates for degrees at the University of Central Oklahoma have colored tassels, which identify the student's college as follows:

Business Administration.....	Drab
Education & Professional Studies.....	Light Blue
Fine Arts & Design ...	Chocolate Brown
Liberal Arts .....	Kelly Green
Mathematics & Science.....	Golden Yellow
Graduate .....	Bronze and Blue

THE GOWN

The bachelor's gown has a long, pleated front with shirring across the shoulders and back. The flowing sleeves are pointed at the fingertip and are almost knee length.

The master's degree gown has oblong sleeves, reaching well below the knees. The sleeves are cut so that the forearm comes through a slit just above the elbow.

The doctor's gown has broad, velvet panels down the front, and three velvet bars on full, round sleeves. This velvet trimming may be either black or a color distinctive of the degree.

THE HOOD

The hood gives color and meaning to the academic attire. The silk lining of the hood is colored with the official colors of the institution conferring the degree. The University of Central Oklahoma is known by its Bronze and Blue. The hood is bordered with velvet of a prescribed width to designate the degree and a color to indicate the field of learning to which the degree pertains.

THE COLORS

The fields of learning identified by the color of the velvet panels and sleeve bars on the gown or the edging of the hood include the following:

Arts and Letters.....	White
Business.....	Drab
Education.....	Light Blue
Engineering.....	Orange
Fine Arts .....	Brown
Law .....	Purple
Medicine .....	Green
Music .....	Pink
Nursing.....	Apricot
Philosophy .....	Dark Blue
Physical Education .....	Sage Yellow
Science .....	Golden Yellow
Social Science.....	Citron
Theology.....	Scarlet

CLASS MARSHALS - FALL 2010

For commencement, each of the University of Central Oklahoma's five undergraduate colleges award a student the title of Class Marshal. These five students have the highest grade-point averages and number of Central credit hours in their respective colleges.

Each honoree receives a Class Marshal stole, signifying the highest degree of academic excellence. First presented in 1994, the stoles have become a UCO tradition, now enhanced by a bronze Class Marshal graduation gown.

The following are the Class Marshals for the Fall 2010 Commencement.

April D. Bacorn is a Theatre Arts: Design and Technology major with a minor in Business Administration. With a 3.97 grade point, she received the 2010 Theatre Arts Department Scholarship, the 2009 Douglas R. ## STAR-SPANGLED BANNER

O say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
 What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming.
 Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
 O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
 And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
 Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there;
 O say, does that Star-spangled Banner yet wave
 O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?
