Royal Air Force in Oklahoma

Inclusive dates: 1936-2015

Bulk dates: 1941-2007

Volume: 14.25 linear feet (17 boxes)

Provenance

The materials were given to the UCO Archives & Special Collections in two accessions one November 11, 2015, the other on January 27, 2021, by Paula Denson. Both accessions were picked up by Nicole Willard at Paula Denson's home, 7300 NW 114 Terrace, OKC, OK 73162. Paula Denson is the author of The Royal Air Force in Oklahoma: Lives, Loves & Courage of the British Air Crews Trained in Oklahoma During World War II, published in 2006 by the Oklahoma Heritage Association. The collection includes research materials compiled by Denson as well as related materials from the No. 6 British Flying Training School (BFTS) Association Collection and the No. 3 BFTS Association Collection. The collections were formerly housed and displayed at Marland's Grand Home in Ponca City, Oklahoma. Some of the materials originally belonged to Lillian Taylor, a former link instructor at Darr School of Aeronautics. Prior to its acquisition by the Friends of Marland's Grand Home Foundation, Taylor's memorabilia was displayed at the Ponca City Airport. The son of a former Darr instructor and the descendants of John Price, a former Darr cadet, contributed additional materials to the No. 6 BFTS Association Collection. The materials acquired from the Price family formerly belonged to a small, local archive in England.

Donor Information

Paula Carmack Denson a native of Ponca City has had a varied career working as a dental hygienist for thirty years then owning a special events business before selling that business to devote more time to her love of historic research and writing. Her great interest in local history motivated her to form the North Central Oklahoma Historical Association, a 501c3 non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation of local history. She, along with her board of directors, produced a national award-winning set of history books for North Central Oklahoma. As her interest in local history grew, so did her love for Marland's Grand home, formally known as the Ponca City Cultural Center. She is one of the founding board members for that group and served as renovation chairman for Friends of Marland's Grant Home.

Around 2000 Denson purchased about 70 handwritten letters postmarked from England during WWII. She discovered that she possessed letter written by the cadets who trained at Darr School of Aeronautics in Ponca City from 1941-1944. These letters were written to one of the families who took many of the young men into their homes, treating them as sons. There are also letters from wives, widows, and mothers of these brave young men. The discovery of these letters would send Denson on a multi-year search for the men and women who wrote those letters. She collected research along the way that led to the publishing of her book, The Royal Airforce in Oklahoma. Paula was able to locate several of the men over sixty years after they wrote the letters and traveled to England on two occasions to meet them.

Biographical/Background Content Note

Following the passage of the 1941 Lend-Lease Act, six British Flying Training Schools (BFTSs) opened in the United States. The schools provided flight training for cadets in Great Britain's Royal Air Force (RAF) during World War II. Two of the schools were located in the state of Oklahoma: Darr School of Aeronautics in Ponca City (No. 6 BFTS) and Spartan School of Aeronautics (No. 3 BFTS) in Miami. The other flight schools were located in Arizona, California, Florida and Texas.

The Oklahoma flight schools opened in July 1941. Private companies established and owned both schools. Hal Darr founded the Ponca City school, and Captain Maxwell Balfour served as the CEO of the Miami school. Royal Air Force officers oversaw the operations at the schools, but civilian flight instructors from the United States taught the courses. In addition to instructing British cadets, both schools trained pilots for the United States Army Air Force. More than 4,000 Royal Air Force cadets and several hundred American pilots trained at Ponca City and Miami during the war. Darr School of Aeronautics operated until April 15, 1944, and Spartan School of Aeronautics remained open through August 1945. Several Royal Air Force cadets lost their lives in training accidents at both flight schools. They are buried in the I.O.O.F Cemetery in Ponca City and in the G.A.R. Cemetery in Miami.

After the war, the alumni of both flight schools established fraternal organizations. In past years, the No. 3 BFTS Association and the No. 6 BFTS Association both held reunions in Oklahoma. However, the No. 3 BFTS Association is no longer in operation, holding its last reunion in Miami in 2005. The No. 6 BFTS Association remains active, though its reunions are now exclusively held in the United Kingdom.

Scope and Content

The materials in this collection document the history of the two British Flying Training Schools located in Oklahoma during World War II. The collection consists of research materials compiled by Paula Denson as well as related documents and display items formerly housed at Marland's Grand Home in Ponca City, Oklahoma. The materials related to the Ponca City School (No. 6 BFTS) are the strength of the collection. The accession number for the collection is 1511001.

The collection includes files regarding specific subjects and individuals associated with the British Flying Training Schools in Oklahoma. The individuals featured in the files include instructors, officers, cadets, and other flight school employees. The files include photographs, newspaper articles, correspondence with former cadets and their family members, and related historical information taken from various books and online sources. The collection also contains autobiographies of former cadets, programs for events and ceremonies held at the flight schools, flight manuals, flight school examinations, various types of instructional materials, newsletters from the flight school associations, and materials regarding the reunions hosted by the No. 3 BFTS Association and the No. 6 BFTS Association.

In addition, the collection features various display items, including laminated flight school documents, laminated newspaper articles, photographs, flags, and other miscellaneous memorabilia related to the flight schools. The collection also includes a selection of pages, sections, issues, and articles from various newspaper publications that document the history of the two Oklahoma flight schools. Additionally, the collection includes a selection of aeronautical charts and maps that plot a variety of geographic locations, chiefly in Europe and in the United States.

Lastly, the collection features a handful of multimedia resources, including video tapes, cassette tapes, and CDs containing data related to the history of the British Flying Training Schools in Oklahoma.

Organization and Arrangement

The collection is organized into 5 series: I. BFTS History, 1937-2015; II. Museum Collections, 1937-2015; III. Newspapers, 1937-2015; IV. Maps, 1936-2006; V. Media, 1944-2012.

Series Descriptions

I. BFTS History, 1937-2015

(5+ boxes, 302 folders/items)

This series includes materials compiled by Paula Denson on the history of the No. 6 BFTS in Ponca City and the No. 3 BFTS in Miami. The date range of the series is 1937-2015. The folders are mostly arranged alphabetically (from A-Z) by file title. The series begins with the files regarding the Ponca City school. They are followed by the files related to the Miami school.

The majority of the series consists of files containing information on cadets, instructors, administrators and other individuals associated with the Oklahoma flight schools. The files include correspondence with former cadets and/or their family members, other related correspondence, photographs, autobiographical materials, newspaper clippings and articles, historical information from various books and online resources, etc.

In addition, the series includes files on the individual classes that graduated from the No. 6 BFTS. These files include photographs, correspondence, newspaper articles, course rosters, etc. The series also includes files on the cadets killed in training accidents at Ponca City and Miami. Other files concern the various reunions held by the No. 6 BFTS Association and the No. 3 BFTS Association.

Additional materials in the series include Paula Denson's photo log, photographs, photocopies of photographs, air crew lecture notes, miscellaneous information on the towns of Ponca City and Miami, information on the various types of aircraft utilized at the flight schools, and promotional materials for Paula Denson's book. There are also a handful of files that include materials related to the other British Flying Training Schools in the United States. They provide additional context for the history of the Oklahoma schools.

II. Museum Collections, 1937-2017

(5+ boxes, 390 folders/items)

This series is chiefly composed of materials originally belonging to the No. 6 BFTS Association Collection and the No. 3 BFTS Association Collection. The majority of the materials in this series are from the No. 6 BFTS Association Collection. Most of the materials were assigned ID numbers in their original collections, and those numbers are noted in the collection database. The date range of the series is 1937-2015. There are multiple arrangement patterns within the series.

Boxes 021000 and 021001 contain oversize materials and display items. The materials in Box 021000 include laminated copies of newspaper clippings and articles as well as various laminated documents from Darr School of Aeronautics. The documents include instructional materials, copies of course photographs and other related memorabilia. The box also includes oversize magazine articles, flight school examinations and flight charts, photographs, and oversize photocopies of photographs and documents. In addition, the box includes copies of proclamations issued by various Oklahoma governors honoring the memories of the flight schools and their cadets. Each item in the box is grouped with similar items. The materials within each individual group are arranged in chronological order (from the oldest date to the most recent). For example, all of the laminated newspaper articles are arranged in chronological order, the laminated flight school documents are arranged in chronological order, the photographs are arranged in chronological order, and the oversize photocopies are arranged in chronological order.

The materials in box 021001 include photographs, documents, and newspaper articles mounted on mats for display purposes. The box also includes pieces of canvas and hat bills bearing the signatures of Darr School cadets. In addition, the box includes patches featuring the insignias of Darr School of Aeronautics and the Ponca City Air Museum, flags of the United States and the United Kingdom, and other miscellaneous memorabilia. Each item in the box is grouped with similar items. The foam-backed display materials are arranged in chronological order (from the oldest date to the most recent). Most of the materials in the box are not dated.

The series also includes files containing memorabilia and other information related to the British Flying Training Schools in Oklahoma and the history of Ponca City. The files include lists and descriptions of the items in the No. 6 BFTS Association Collection and the No. 3 BFTS Association Collection. They also contain photographs, correspondence, programs for events and ceremonies, newspaper clippings and articles, information regarding membership in the No. 6 BFTS Association, information regarding the No. 6 BFTS Association reunions, materials related to the history of Ponca City, and biographies and autobiographies of flight school cadets. In addition, the files include instructional materials, log books and flight manuals, maps, copies of the No. 6 BFTS Association's newsletter, and miscellaneous materials related to the No. 1 BFTS in Terrell, Texas and the No. 4 BFTS in Mesa, Arizona.

The files are arranged in their original order, which did not maintain a consistent arrangement pattern. However, many of the files in the series are arranged in the order of their original ID numbers. The materials in folders 33-44 in Box 021008 are arranged from the highest ID number to the lowest. The materials in folders 48-62 in Box 021008, folders 1-24 and 50-54 in Box 021009, and folders 3-10 and 16-29 in Box 021015 are arranged from the lowest ID number to the highest. There are also short runs of two to four folders interspersed throughout the series that are arranged in the order of their original ID numbers.

III. Newspapers, 1937-2015

1.6 linear feet (1 box, 57 items)

This series consists of newspaper issues, sections, pages, and articles. The date range of the series is 1937-2015. The majority of the newspapers date from the 1980s and 1990s. The materials are arranged in chronological order, from the oldest date to the most recent. The series features materials from a variety of publications, including the Chicago Herald-American, the Daily Oklahoman, the New York Times, the Tulsa Tribune, the Miami News Record, the Daily Telegraph, the Enid News & Eagle, and the Tulsa World. Most of the materials are from the Ponca City News. The newspapers document various significant events during World War II, the histories of the No. 6 BFTS in Ponca City and the No. 3 BFTS in Miami, and the post-war activities of the flight schools' cadets.

IV. Maps, 1936-2006

1.8 linear feet (4 boxes, 36 items)

This series includes all of the oversize maps in the collection. The date range of this series is 1936-2006.

The smaller maps are divided between two boxes. The first box contains sectional aeronautical charts printed by the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey that plot the regions surrounding various airports in the United States. The maps are arranged chronologically (from the most recent date to the oldest). The second box contains Oklahoma maps and aeronautical charts. It also includes the following miscellaneous maps: a map listing the international index numbers for the United States, an AAF aeronautical chart, a Civil Aeronautics Authority radio facility map, and a poster of an aerial image showing the curvature of the earth. The Oklahoma maps and the miscellaneous maps are both arranged chronologically (from the most recent date to the oldest).

The larger maps are also divided between two boxes. The third map box includes maps of various parts of the United States. The box includes the plot plan for Darr School of Aeronautics, regional aeronautical charts printed by the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, and Mercator projection maps of various regions of the United States printed by the U.S. Army Map Service. The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey maps and the U.S. Army Map Service maps are both arranged chronologically (from the most recent date to the oldest).

The last map box includes maps and charts of areas outside of the United States. The box includes a "Newsmap" published by the U.S. Government Printing Office that details troop movements on the various war fronts in June 1943 (with the "Eastern" front being the chief focal point). The box also includes maps of various areas of the United Kingdom printed by the Ordnance Survey of Great Britain and/or the U.S. Army Engineer Reproduction Plant and a map of Berlin, Germany printed by the U.S. Army Engineer Reproduction Plant. Those maps are organized chronologically (from the most recent date to the oldest). In addition, the box includes Mercator projection maps of various locations in Europe published by the U.S. Army Map Service, the War Office and the U.S. Army Engineer Reproduction Plant. They are arranged chronologically (from the most recent date to the oldest). Lastly, the box includes three copies of a Mercator projection map of the Solomon Islands printed by the U.S. Army Map Service.

V. Media, 1944-2014

.50 linear feet (1 box, 52 items)

This series is composed of various multimedia materials. The date range of the series is 1944-2012. The series includes VHS tapes, a DVD, CDs, and various types of audio cassette tapes. There are several other CDs (mainly containing photograph files) interspersed throughout the collection that are not included in this series.

Each item in the box is grouped with similar items. The materials within each individual group are arranged in chronological order (from the oldest date to the most recent). The first VHS tape contains footage of Ponca City from the 1940s, including video of RAF cadets boarding a train. The other VHS tape, entitled Pike's Peak by Rail: The Manitou and Pike's Peak Railway, is a documentary film regarding the cog railroad that runs to the top of Pike's Peak in Colorado. The lone DVD, entitled Crew 713: The Men Who Flew "The Irishman's Shanty", is a documentary film concerning the history of the "O'Sullivan Crew 713", an American B-24 bomber crew during World War II.

There are also three data CDs. The first, labeled "John Facer's Collection", includes images of magazine covers, links to web pages, images of scrapbook pages, logbook instructions, photographs, maps, autobiographical materials, etc. The second CD includes 33 photographs of World War II-era aircraft. The CD is labelled "Joint Air Reconnaissance Intelligence Centre -- Royal Air Force, No. 3 BFTS -- Unclassified." The final CD in the series contains an audio recording of a lecture by Bill McCash entitled "Training RAF Pilots in USA During World War II", delivered before the Royal Aeronautical Society, Gatwick Branch. There is also a copy of the lecture on a cassette tape. The microcassettes in the series contain recordings of interviews with J.E. Ledbetter, a former mechanic at Darr School of Aeronautics, and Rick Brown, a former Darr School cadet.
