News

Publishing Discount for Frontiers Journals

The Libraries has negotiated a 7.5% discount on article processing charges (APCs) for open access articles published by Frontiers for 2022. Frontiers journals are peer-reviewed open access publications covering a broad range of disciplines such as applied math, biomaterials, communication, digital humanities, education, ecology & evolution, earth science, environmental science, remote sensing, robotics & AI, sports & active living, sustainability, and more (see a complete list). The Libraries has an open access fund which offsets a portion of APC costs for gold open access journals; Frontiers publications are eligible for this funding.

OU Faculty Publish Open Access Book

Thanks to subvention funding provided by the offices of the Provost and VPRP, several OU scholars have just published an open access book, Trust in Government Agencies in the Time of COVID-19. Congratulations!

Catlett Music Center Renovations

Due to the ongoing HVAC renovation in Catlett Music Center, the Fine Arts Library and all its materials will be inaccessible from December 18 – January 18. This includes requesting materials on SoonerXpress for pickup at other OU Libraries locations or for home delivery. We encourage students and faculty to carefully consider what materials they may need during this period and obtain them before December 18.

2022 Graduate Student Research Retreat

January 10 -13, 2022, via Zoom

Registration required. The Graduate Student Research Retreat features research and technology workshops for graduate students in the arts, education, humanities, and social sciences. This event equips graduate students with practical research skills as they become scholars and practitioners. Students will learn to find literature in their disciplines, manage citations with Zotero, increase the impact of their research, and more. The Research Retreat is open to all OU students, faculty, and staff.
