Tracer bullets, generally used in night combat, enable the gun operator to note the accuracy of fire, since course of the bullet may be followed to the target. This is important in air combat, especially.

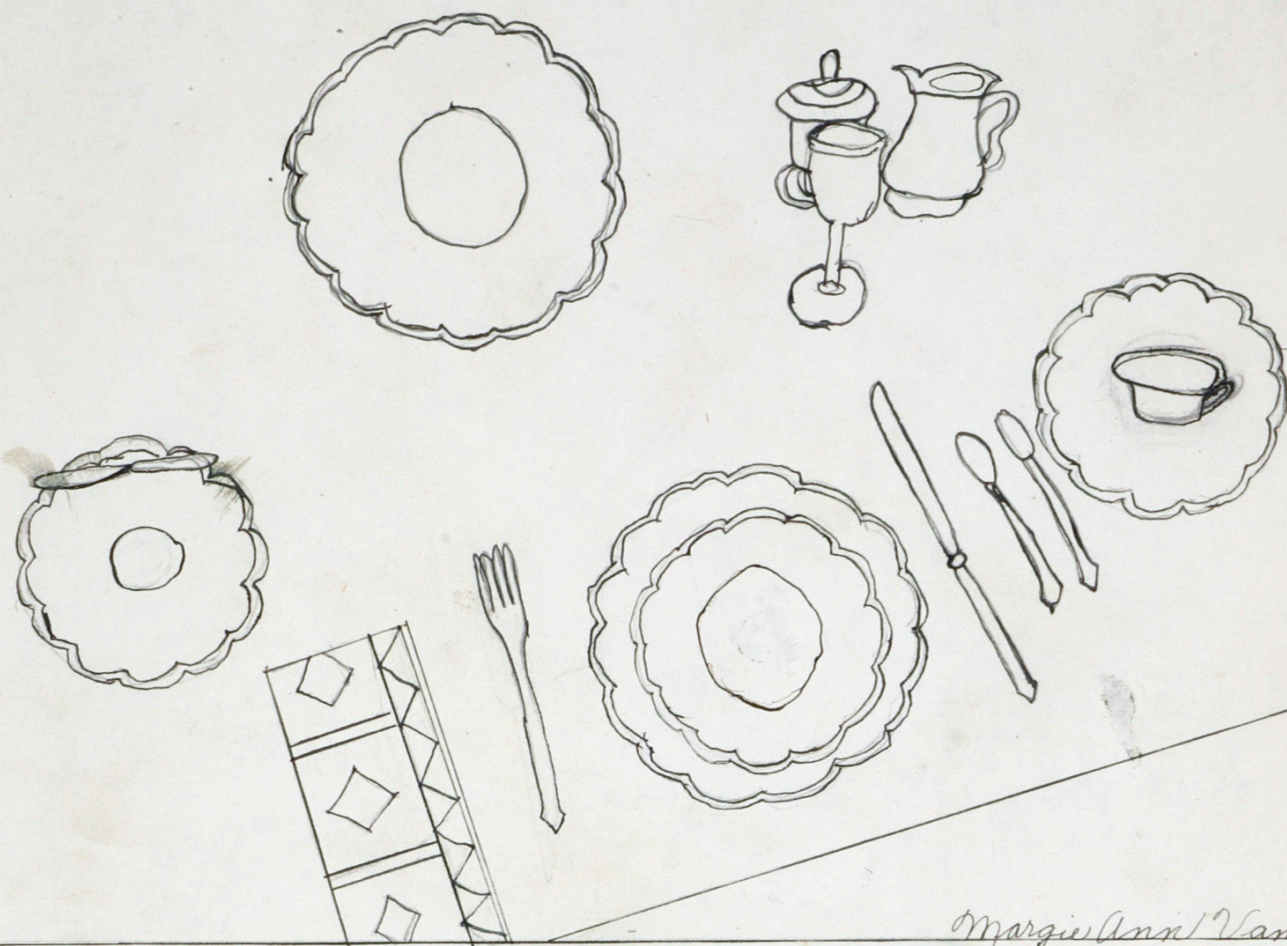

Cost of these bullets, of course, varies with the caliber, but 1,000 rounds of 50-caliber machine gun tracer bullets cost in the neighborhood of $250. Your purchase of War Bonds and War Stamps will help pay for the millions of rounds of ammunition needed for tracer bullet-fire. Invest AT LEAST TEN PERCENT of income in War Bonds every payday. Buy them from your bank, postoffice, radio station, and other outlets. U. S. Treasury Department

Letter to the Ed.

We, the three grade High School students, have been very impressed in a scrap drive, the main purpose of which has been to gather scrap for United Drive. In order to add a slight extra impetus to the student's willingness, we are giving a rate of a pound for each pound of scrap collected. The notes are then turned in on our Carnival Queen, (each class has one).

The total amount of scrap weighed in at nearly twenty one tons and the High School Athlete Fund, to which the proceeds were turned over, is now ahead to the tune of 120 dollars. This makes us, as an organized body, feel very proud of our school & very patriotic.

Yours,
Bill Morris.

Mr. Guy C. Chambers
% Central State College
Edmond, Oklahoma.

Dear Mr. Chambers:

Under separate cover I am mailing to you Scrap-books for Defense form four of our Elementary Buildings. I would like to have these returned when you are through with them, send them Express C.O.D.

Our Senior High School in co-operation with the American Legion Contest in Bond selling has sold $20,000.00 in Bonds during the month of January, 1943.

Since the 25th of January the Lovett Junior High sold $183.85 in Defense Stamps. This building is now sponsoring a Queen from each class as impetus for sales.

The Elementary Buildings sold as follows:

Washington School	$408.90
Park School	1744.68
Heights School	38.15
Lincoln School	932.35
Riverside School	561.00
South Main	38.95
School office	200.00

The students have taken hold of the program in nice shape and I believe will continue working.

2,000,000 Pounds of Scrap Flood County Salvage Yards

Kay Leaders Declare Figure to Mount
When Students Make Out Full Reports

NEWKIRK—More than 2,000,000 pounds of scrap flooded into salvage yards throughout Kay county during the first two weeks of the all-out drive sponsored by newspapers, an unofficial survey disclosed Saturday.

The unofficial poundage was placed at 2,217,646 for all salvage yards in the county, but leaders declared the figure was probably far below the amount that will be officially recorded when the drive ends next Saturday.

Nevertheless, even the unofficial total gave the county an average collection of 47.09 pounds per person and leaders pointed toward a final figure that might reach considerably above a 100-pound average.

The ace in the hole for the next week will be the salvage drives under way in nearly all school districts in the county where students gathered up huge piles of scrap during the first five days of their two-week campaign.

The collections on the school grounds will continue growing until next Friday night when the school salvage drive will close. Teachers immediately will forward to Mrs. Ted R. Fisher, county superintendent, the total amount of the scrap collected and the per capita pounds for each student in their schools.

Summary Is Prepared

A summary of the scrap collections at all schools in the county will be submitted to A. L. Crable, state superintendent of public instruction, for consideration for the 50 awards and recognition honors offered by state newspapers.

Mrs. Fisher said Saturday that statements on weights collected by each school and signed by the teachers were sufficient to make the final report official in the tabulation to be submitted to Crable.

Recent reports from several rural schools showed Kildare district 50, with more than six tons, Washunga, district 89, with more than one truck load, and Banner, district 35, with exactly 4,831.5 pounds.

Students Go All-Out

In independent districts Newkirk students went all-out in the campaign and collected 73,309 pounds of scrap in the first 24 hours of the drive that started Thursday afternoon. The collection was an average of 146.5 pounds per pupil.

At Ponca City the schools Friday had a total of 241,643 pounds, or an average of 58.9 pounds per student. At Kaw City the school children brought in more than 60,000 pounds in four days.

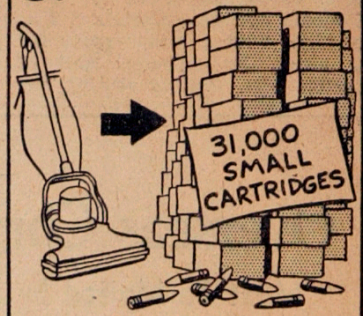

The biggest boost yet reported in the current drive came from Ponca City where the Continental Oil company turned over 1,376,000 pounds, or 688 tons, since the opening of the newspaper campaign September 28. The large receipts were provided by a reconstruction program under way at the company's refinery, company officials explained.

JANUARY IS STAMP ALBUM CLEARANCE MONTH

Schools will play a key role in the national drive to convert partly filled War Savings Stamp albums into bonds during January. Americans are holding about 100 million partly filled albums—American school children can help insure the success of the big January press-radio-theatre-retailer campaign to get these albums filled and converted into bonds.

YOUR SCRAP IS IMPORTANT

3. COPPER AND BRASS

Besides this one, here are other items of junk you probably have around the house, with figures on what the copper and brass in them will make for war: 1,000 burned-out lamp bulbs make 40 compasses; 25 washing and ironing machines make a 37-mm. tank gun; a copper kettle makes 84 rounds of ammunition for an automatic rifle.

Wide World Features

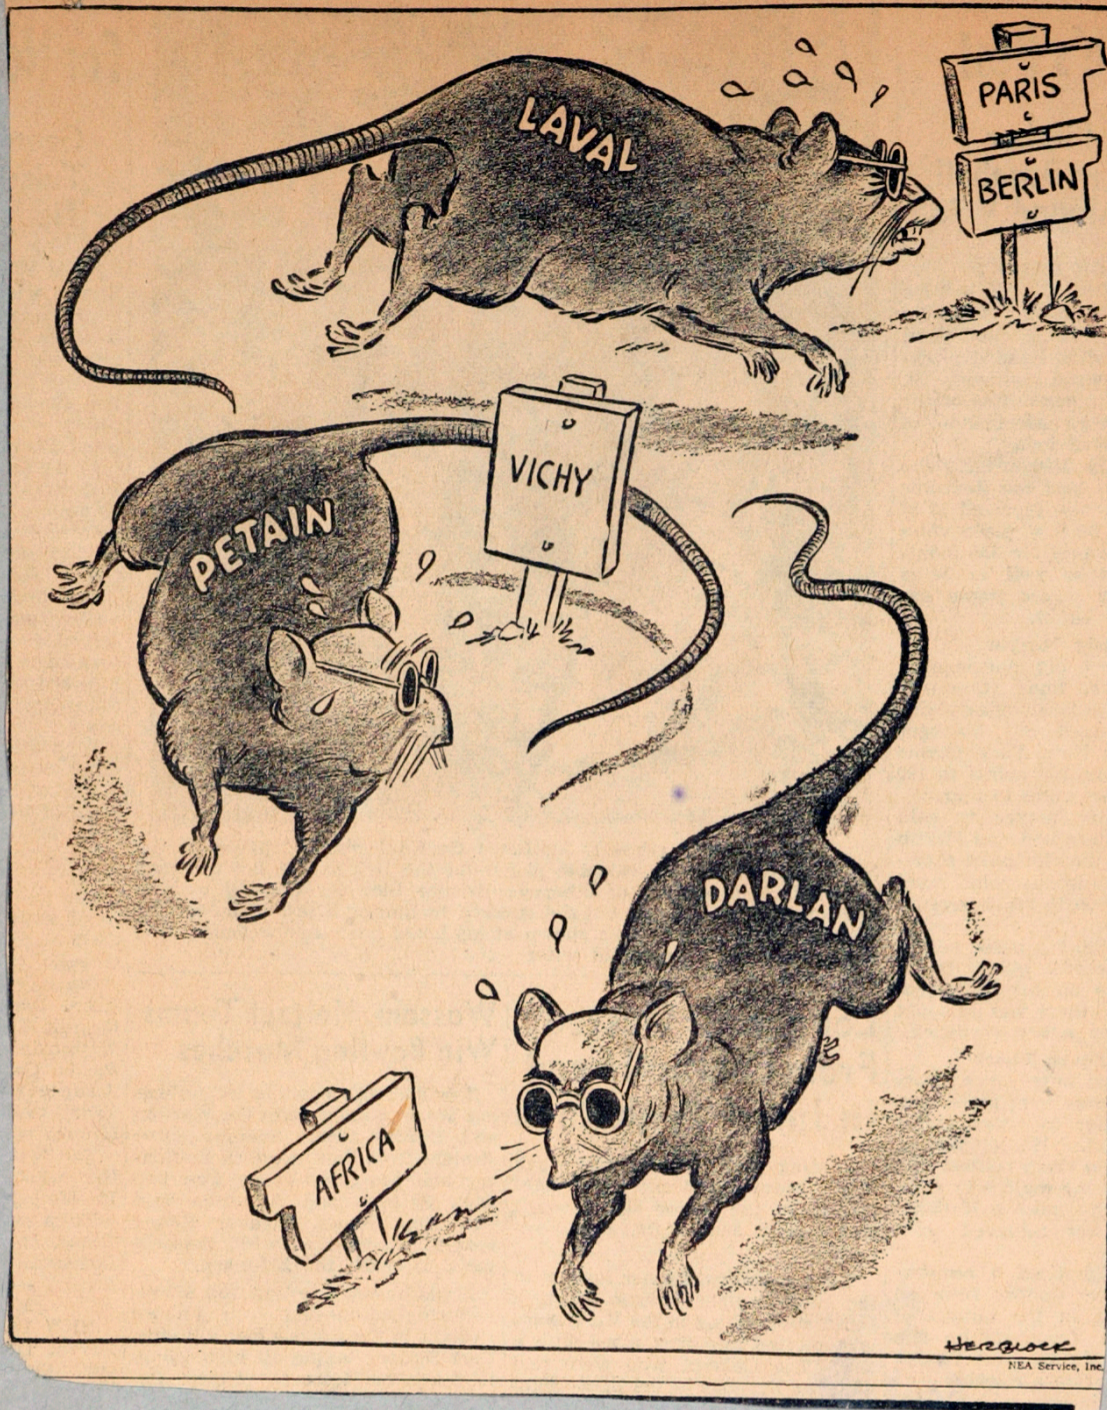

School at Three Sands Plans Annual Carnival

THREE SANDS—Students of the Three Sands high school this weekend completed arrangements for the school's annual carnival, set for Friday.

The event will feature various amusements and games, beginning at 8 o'clock in the evening. Queens of the occasion will be Delores Rhine, representing the grade school; Jackie Lawson, the freshman class; Miss Aileen Lawson, sophomore; Miss Bonnie Rhe Overton, junior; and Miss Maxine Copeland, senior.

The classes of the high school, in their all-out effort to collect scrap, will use the proceeds of their separate iron piles to buy votes for their respective queens.

See How They Run! See How They Run!

The Scrap Drive

Things are really "buzzing" around Three Sands in our all-out-for-war effort this week. It seems our country is short on scrap iron so the students are gathering it for defense. Each class has its separate pile and the iron they bring in goes as votes for their respective queens at the annual school carnival the 16th.

Our community should be proud of the 385 pounds per person average. All the country asked for was 100 per person so we nearly tripled it.

The parents were very generous in lending autos, trailers etc. to remove the scrap from the junk piles to the schoolyards and most of them contributed their time and energy by picking it up also.

There was very little griping and most of that didn't amount to anything. If every community is as patriotic and generous as ours we could be sure of a quick victory.
