

ANDREW J. WALLACE.

JULY 4, 1890.—Committed to the Committee of the Whole House and ordered to be printed.

Mr. DE LANO, from the Committee on Pensions, submitted the following REPORT:

[To accompany H. R. 7146.]

The Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 7146) granting a pension to Andrew J. Wallace, have considered the same and report:

The claimant served under the name of Jackson Wallace in Capt. James H. Pearce's company of South Carolina militia, Florida Indian war, from January 20, 1837, to April 20, 1837.

It is shown by the testimony of reputable citizens of Chesterfield County, S. C., that the applicant is eighty years old, very poor, and so much afflicted with hernia and chronic diarrhea that he can do no manual labor to support himself.

Congress has repeatedly granted relief in the way of pensions to the aged and dependent survivors of the old Indian wars, and your committee therefore report the bill back recommending its passage.
