Gay March A Success

WASHINGTON, DC - Lesbians and gay men numbering in the hundreds of thousands converged on the nation's capital on October 9th for a long weekend of activities planned by various gay organizations to emphasize homosexuals' demands for civil rights.

For the lesbians who gathered in Washington from all across the United States the week's festivities were kicked off with a concert featuring Cris Williamson, Tret Fure, and Casselberry-DuPree. On Friday evening the Lisner Auditorium on the George Washington University campus was packed to the roof with wimmin "having a great time, feeling the music, and clapping and dancing to Casselberry and DuPree" according to one concert-goer.

"The Wedding" - an activity which symbolized the commitment that gay couples have to the relationships they share - was held Saturday at 2 pm on Constitution Avenue between the IRS Building and the Natural History Museum. "The couples filled the street" for the 30-minute ceremony in which over 2,000 couples took part. A female Metaphysical minister conducted the ceremony, and many lesbians, including Robin Tyler and her lover, participated. Wedding certificates were available and comedienne Linda Lavner performed for the newlyweds at the reception which followed.

Saturday evening found many of the March attendants at DAR Constitution Hall just down the street from the White House where the "Let Freedom Ring" Band was playing to a "sold out" crowd. This band, brought together for the March On Washington, was a composite of many gay and lesbian bands from all across the country. A local woman was there. Said Helen Holgate, "This band was great! There was so much energy in the Hall. There were flag twirlers performing with the band, and the Denver Women's Chorus sang accompanied by the band. It was all just so wonderful!"

Sunday, of course, was the day the majority of lesbians and gay men had come to Washington for. A personal account of the March On Washington for Lesbian and Gay Rights follows this article.

Monday was a day spent by thousands of gays in class. For this was the day they would be trained in civil disobedience procedures to make themselves ready for Tuesday's protest at the Supreme Court. Protesters were trained to be in one of two groups: those expecting to be arrested - for going into a forbidden area on the steps of the Supreme Court building; and those who would be their supporters - who would remain in a legal area of the steps.

Tuesday found several thousand lesbians and gay men on the East Lawn of the nation's capitol building, across 1st Street from the Supreme Court Building. The first of "seven or eight waves" of protesters consisting of 200 or more gays crossed the street to the steps of the Court building at 8 am Tuesday morning. The day-long protest was designed to run continuously by having a designated number of people cross to the steps at designated times. The end result was a lengthy civil disobedience demonstration, and an all-time record number of arrests - 572.

DC Police, unable to handle the massive number of arrestees, had to borrow buses from Continental Trailways to transfer those arrested from the Supreme Court site to "Cell Block B" processing and holding facility, and again from Cell Block B to the Superior Court Building where the protesters either paid a $100 fine and were released or continued their protest by going through arraignment, filing of charges, and court proceedings.

With estimates of the number of demonstrators ranging from 200,000 (DC Police Department estimates) to over 500,000 (Speaker Jesse Jackson's estimate), the March on Washington for Lesbian and Gay Rights was deemed a big success by its planners and promoters.

EYE WITNESS ACCOUNT

The following article is a personal account of the October 11th March On Washington for Lesbian and Gay Rights. Written by Helen Holgate, it recounts her impressions of that historic day:

Up at 7 am after a few hours of sleep. A quick shower and dressing in lavender and purple - a splash of color for the day ahead. Fast-paced footsteps along now-familiar downtown D.C. streets headed to the elipse on an overcast Sunday morning.

In the store buying last-minute necessities, like film and passing "brothers and sisters" on the street - all part of the family. The air was brisk, the atmosphere alive with the energy of love.

Past hotels, shops, fountains we walked. Waving and smiling - even laughing - knowing we were among friends. A giant community of lesbians and gay men gathering in our nation's capitol to share a message with the rest of the world: For Love and For Life, We're Not Going Back.....

It was a wonderful, perhaps "never to be experienced again" event for me - the second March on Washington by lesbians and gay men - a march of over 500,000 of us from our communities all over the world. We gathered on the elipse behind the White House from 9 am 'til noon. A mixture and blend of such wonderfully diverse groups as the Radical Fairies, People in Leather contingents from the 50

UPDATE ON LESBIAN MINISTER

In 1984, the quadrennial conference of the United Methodist Church passed a resolution banning "practicing homosexuals" from the ministry. At the time, Rev. Rose Marie Denman supported the rule. Two years later she had accepted her own lesbianism, renounced her former attitude of discrimination, and challenged the ban (see August's issue of HSR Newsletter).

Last month a hearing of 4 female and 9 male church authorities found her guilty of violating the ban, but gave her the lightest possible sentence and refused to defrock her as a minister. Denman, who had not expected such leniency, rejoiced that the church had risen to the challenge and affirmed homosexuals as "persons of worth and value in the eyes of God", but continued with her plans to switch to the Unitarian Universalist Church. The ruling by the church will stand at least until the next quadrennial conference in 1988.

A CALL FOR MATERIALS FROM ACROSS THE MILES

Dear Sisters:

The Old Lesbian Celebration in Los Angeles, California in April, 1987, increased our pride and joy in living these years after sixty. We are keenly aware of ageism in ourselves, in our lesbian communities, and in our younger sisters. We can come out of our closets to declare ourselves the passionate, loving old lesbians we are. For this purpose we will publish an anthology of works by women over sixty about their loving of women who are also over sixty.

Our tentative title for the anthology is OLD LOVERS. Please help us to encourage old lesbians to share the loving in their lives with all of us.

Women over 60 may submit poems, short prose pieces, letters, journal entries, photographs and drawings to:

OLD LOVERS
c/o WomanSpirit
2000 King Mountain Trail
Sunny Valley, OR 97497

All submitted materials must be received by Valentine's Day, 1988.

Thank you for spreading the word.

states, representatives from several colleges and universities - Howard, Brown, Earlham. People with AIDS, Gay Parents, Parents of Gays, and more. Folks of all colors, ages, and backgrounds, we marched up 17th Street in front of the White House, down 15th Street and on past the Washington Monument to the Mall in front of the Capitol. The streets were lined with supporters - lesbians and gay men who had not participated in the march, but were there to cheer us on, people holding signs - straights who support gays - and the Black man with the sign: Corn-fed Iowa Faggot. As we passed cheers went up as people said "Oklahoma", and occasionally ran up to tell us the time they had lived there or where they came from in Oklahoma.

The two-hour wait on the elipse before our group from Oklahoma, along with the other 50 states, even began the march let us know how many had gone before us. We waited patiently as we visited each other, listened to inspiring words from speakers organized by the People of Color and watched sisters and brothers run to greet each other - seeing old friends reunited. It was a beautiful outpouring of love.

Then, finally arriving on the Mall between the Washington Monument and the Capitol to find thousands of us - we indeed were everywhere! Giant speakers 20 feet high were needed to carry the sound of Whoopi Goldberg, Jesse Jackson, Holly Near, Kate Clinton, Karen Thompson, and others as they spoke resounding words of support. To see us holding hands and swaying together as we sang along with Holly: We are a gentle, angry people, and we are singing, singing for our lives.... The spirit and energy and love of those minutes, hours and days will live for years in my heart as I have the opportunity to share a beautiful moment in time with "family", friends, and children who come into my life. For I shall never forget the exhilaration of stepping off a metro subway after the March, and hearing thunderous cheers echo down the platform, up the escalators, and back into the streets, reaffirming with strong vibrant energy - For Love and For Life, We're Not Going Back.

WEATHER PUTS NO DAMPERS ON HSR RETREAT

Oklahoma's inclement Fall weather proved to have no perceivable negative effects on the fun had at Herland's recent retreat. In spite of heavy overcasts and plenty of the wet stuff, about 100 women from Oklahoma, Texas, and Arkansas came together for a weekend at the new group camp at Robber's Cave State Park on October 23, 24, and 25.

Enveloped by the beauty of the Sans Bois Mountains bedecked in their resplendent peak Autumn colors, retreaters shared laughter, hiking, entertainment, food, games, and friendship.

A highpoint of the weekend was the two-hour performance by the multi-talented Nancy Day. Arriving in Oklahoma by plane from her Pittsburgh home, Ms. Day quickly acclimated to the countrified surroundings by donning a "cowgirl" hat, acquainting herself individually with many in the community, and playing touch football - in real down home style - in the late afternoon mist on a soggy softball field with several of her new-found friends.

To Barbara C.'s great relief, Nancy stubbed no fingers during the rather rough and tumble game, and the concert performance (made up entirely of original compositions, including one improvisation) was immensely enjoyed by all. Opening for Nancy Day was OKC's own very talented singer/songwriter Donna DeSalvo, whose original works played the gamut of emotions, bringing the audience to tears with "Ode to Robbi Roberson" and laughter with "My Two Sisters".

Other enjoyments of the weekend included modified spelunking/rock climbing/hiking shared by the adventurous; tables full of delicious delicacies made by and shared by everyone; "smores" and toasted marshmallows shared around an open fire in a clearing among the tall evergreens; Lesbian soap operas supplied by the concert sound producer, Kerrie, and shared with many delighted lesbians; spontaneous insanity at Sunday breakfast, initiated by the quiet and shy and instigated by the less reserved to a crescendo of calls for "D Y K E EROTICakes"- pancakes made into various unprintable forms, and paraded about the camp by a troupe of irrepressible funlovers. This vociferous bit of merriment was shared with and enjoyed by everyone within earshot.

A number of wimmin who happened to be in the right place at the right time caught an impromptu midnight performance by Nancy Day in a darkened concert pavilion. With scarcely enough light to see, the human form melded with the piano as soothing, mello sounds emanated from the lightless stage....An unforgettable experience.

It seemed the retreat had only just begun when it was time to pack up and depart for home. Early afternoon on Sunday found the group camp without inhabitants once again, and found this reporter already looking forward to the next time 100 wonderful wimmin will gather for a weekend in the woods.

A BIG THANK YOU!

Herland wishes to thank each and every one of you who helped maintain and clean up the camp. The work involved in this task would be unsurmountable without the helping hands of wimmin who offer to share the burden. The Herland Collective says THANK YOU!

A WORD OF ASSURANCE

A number of wimmin have asked for a copy of the video taping that was done at the retreat. Audiovisual personnel wish it was feasible to make copies for everyone who would like one, but Herland has an obligation to maintain the privacy of those we serve. By distributing copies of the retreat tape, even to wimmin who attended the retreat, Herland runs the risk of compromising the confidence of those who trust the safety of the environments Herland creates for them.

Therefore, it is unfortunate, but necessary that the videotape remain the exclusive property of Herland Sister Resources, Inc, with two exceptions: A copy of Nancy Day's performance (performance only) will be given to her for promotional purposes, and a copy of Donna DeSalvo's performance will be made for Donna. Other than these two copies of the concert section of the tape, no copies of the videotape will be made for distribution.

A video archives is planned for Herland and the new building will provide space for equipment to show the tapes which will be maintained in the archives and tape library. Friends of Herland will be privileged to use the video equipment at the Herland Center to view library and archives tapes.

Deidre McCalla Coming to OKC

Olivia recording artist Deidre McCalla will be performing live in concert at Carpenter Square Theatre on Thursday, November 19, 1987 at 8 pm.

If you've joyfully anticipated those exciting and dynamic concerts given by Cris Williamson and Meg Christian, the founding mothers of Women's Music, then you'll be delighted with the stimulating and soothing music of Deidre McCalla.

Deidre brings a gentle blend of folk-pop guitar to her audiences. You'll be smiling and laughing at her witty and sensitive approach to such important issues as the cat that was part of the package deal with your new lover, or what happens when your lover isn't a "morning person". You may nod in agreement with her quiet understanding of things that affect us all - young, old, single or coupled, political or lovingly romantic. Deidre shares of herself with her beautiful smile and knowing way and extends the energy of her heart to include you in a personal journey of music full of emotions and color and love.

Promoting her newest album, With A Little Luck, released on the Olivia Records label, Oklahoma City and Rainbow Productions proudly presents Deidre McCalla at Carpenter Square Theatre, 840 Robert S. Kerr Avenue (between Shartel and Classen), on Thursday, November 19, 1987 at 8 pm.

Tickets are available on the night of the performance at Carpenter Square Theatre Box Office which opens at 7:15 pm. General admission is $6.00. Volunteers interested in helping with the concert and those interested in a work exchange are asked to call 366-0923 as soon as possible. For additional information call 366-0923.

NEW GAY RESTAURANT

The following letter was submitted by a member of our community who wishes to remain anonymous:

Dear Editor,

I've been waiting a while for a restaurant for us. Well, it's here, and via the HSR Newsletter, I'd like to spread the word. The Sidekicks at 4620 NW 39 in OKC is a lesbian and gay restaurant. This is really it! My partner and I went to dinner recently, and were very pleased with the food and the service. In a warm, attractive, and friendly atmosphere we were greeted by the owners and waiters, all concerned with our satisfaction.

In the same building, yet separate, is the club with 110 seating capacity. This offers the Oklahoma Porch dance floor with a variety of seating from very dark and quiet to the midst of music and lights.

We also attended the Grand Opening which was packed. The turnout was much better than expected, and surprised even owner Jean Douglas and Dining Room Manager Lee Burris.

JUST ASK IMA

Dear Ima,

I'm afraid this letter might be a bit confusing. Actually, it would be easier to understand on a flow chart. This is the problem: I am in love with a woman who I'll refer to as Number 2. She is in love with Number 3. Number 3 has been carrying on with Numbers 4 and 5 for quite some time, besides seeing Number 2 (my love) when she has the time. Number 5 already has a lover whom she lives with (Number 6). Number 6 is having an affair with my - recently X - lover (Number 7). My X has also been seeing another woman. That's right, Number 8. Well, the kicker is that Number 8 has been calling me almost every day asking me out. I would like to go out with Number 8, but there is a problem.

Besides completing this strange circle, I would be going out with one of my X-lover's current flames, and I just don't think it would be right. So, I want to, but I don't want to. Ima, please help. What should I do?????

Number 1

Dear One,

Your situation is, indeed, a bit confusing, but a few things are very clear. It seems to me that Numbers 3, 5, 6, and 7 like to have their cake and eat it, too - so to speak - especially with Numbers 3 and 7 who apparently have no present commitment with anyone. Sometimes it is very difficult to decide what we really want and what is best for us. Sometimes the answers are not the same. This is frustrating.

In the long run, the choice is your own. If I were in your position, I would probably go out with Number 8. What harm could it possibly do? Remember that it doesn't have to go any farther than you want it to. Try not to spend too much time brooding about Number 2. Maybe she will tire of Number 3's behavior and come back to you. In the meantime I say enjoy life. If you want to go out with Number 8, do it.

If you still believe it would complicate the situation even more, ask her to stop calling you. But, keep this in mind: Don't just say "No", say "No, THANK YOU".

Good luck,
Ima

IMA'S PERSONALS

This is a must for those tired of holding hands "under the table" at other restaurants. The diningroom is open from 5-10 pm, Tuesday through Sunday. Notice the menu even lists all the old bars from years ago 'til today. Sure brings back memories! The restaurant seats up to 75 folks comfortably. Although they don't take reservations, they suggest calling ahead for groups of six or more. They also offer catering services.

This restaurant and bar serves only members of the lesbian and gay community, so give it a try. I believe you'll enjoy!
