BACKGROUND

The use of cow's milk, water and carbohydrate mixtures represents the one system of infant feeding that consistently, for over three decades, has received universal pediatric recognition. No carbohydrate employed in this system of infant feeding enjoys so rich and enduring a background of authoritative clinical experience as Dextri-Maltose.

Multiple vitamin deficiencies in individual patients vary from borderline nutritive failure to frank deficiency syndromes.

According to individual needs,

Gelseals 'Multicebrin' (Pan-Vitamins, Lilly) may be employed in doses ranging from one gelseal to five or more gelseals a day. One Gelseal 'Multicebrin' daily is adequate for prophylaxis of multiple vitamin deficiencies. For treatment, from two to five should be prescribed when multiple vitamins in high potency are indicated.

The formula of Gelseals 'Multicebrin' and those of other Lilly vitamin preparations are available to physicians in the 1948 edition of Lilly Vitamin Products for Prescription Use.

Copies are available upon request.

ANNUAL MEETING SET FOR MAY 17-19

Nine Leading Medical Specialists Headline
Scientific Program of Oklahoma State Medical Association. Variety of Social Events To Feature
Three-Day Convention.

Plans for the 55th Annual Meeting of the Oklahoma State Medical Association in Oklahoma City next May 17-19 are virtually complete, with advance hotel reservations indicating a heavy attendance of Tulsa members. The three-day scientific program will feature nine nationally known medical specialists in all fields of medicine, as well as Oklahoma doctors, and will be augmented by a variety of social events.

The House of Delegates will meet in annual session on Sunday, May 16, at 2:00 P.M., with a second session scheduled for the same evening. Delegates and visiting members will be the guests of the Oklahoma County Medical Society at a complimentary buffet dinner at 6:30 P.M.

Formal registration will open Monday, May 17, at 8:00 A.M., at the convention hall in the basement of the Skirvin Tower Hotel. Here also will be located the attractive exhibits of 46 commercial organizations, as well as a limited number of scientific exhibits.

As in the past, sectional meetings will be held during the morning with the major specialties represented in medicine and surgery sections. A general meeting features the afternoon with guest lecturers. The popular roundtable luncheons will again be held on each of the three days of the convention, beginning at 12:30 P.M. in the Crystal Room of the Skirvin.

The Alumni Association of the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine will hold its annual banquet on Monday, May 17, at 6:00 P.M. The following evening, a roundtable symposium on the subject—"What's New In Medicine?"—will bring together all guest speakers. A question and answer period will follow. Concluding the convention is the traditional President's Inaugural Dinner Dance and Ball, at which time Dr. Clarence E. Northcutt, Ponca City physician, will assume the reins of office as President of the Oklahoma State Medical Association. Speaker for the event will be Dr. Alan Moritz, head of the Medico-Legal Department of Harvard University School of Medicine, Boston. Dancing will follow.

The annual golf tournament will be held at 1:00 P.M., Monday, May 17, at the Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club. A skeet shoot to be held at the same time will determine the expert marksmen of the medical profession of Oklahoma.

A complete scientific program will be found in the current issue of The Journal of the Oklahoma State Medical Association, and will not be repeated here. Among the Tulsa doctors participating in the program will be Dr. Tom R. Turner, Dr. Henry S. Browne, Dr. Marque O. Nelson, Dr. Franklin D. Sinclair, Dr. Jack O. Akins, Dr. Lucien Pascucci, Dr. Felix R. Park, Dr. Averill Stowell, Dr. Emil E. Palik, Dr. Charles

PRESIDENT'S PAGE

A member of the Tulsa County Medical Society recently told me that he had not had so much as a day's vacation within the last twelve years. I hesitate to think what would have been that doctor's reaction if one of his patients had remarked the same thing to him. As persons who do not practice what they preach—and being, parenthetically, the ones who should do the most—we doctors tend to overlook the necessity for a periodic rest from the problems of a busy medical practice. In fact, we seem to glory in overwork at times, not stopping to count the cost to our physical and mental resources. Too often we learn at the price of a breakdown the penalty of months and years of unrelieved hard work and mental fatigue.

I am a firm believer in the necessity and desirability of a periodic rest, relaxation, and recreation for the doctor. I believe it contributes to the efficiency of a doctor's practice if he will devote a few days of each year to doing these things—beyond the reach of the ringing telephone. For as many members of our Society as can go, I want to suggest an excellent combination business and pleasure trip—the 55th Annual Meeting of the Oklahoma State Medical Association May 17-19 at Oklahoma City. Here, for a few days, is a splendid opportunity to rest and relax, to enjoy the pleasure of renewing old acquaintances, the delight of many social functions, and at the same time to be educated in the progress of modern medicine. Take that opportunity. We don't seem to realize that we do not lose money by a trip to a convention or postgraduate course of study as our patients and fellow practitioners have more respect for us. Our real friends wait until our services are obtainable. Plan now for that visit to the State Convention.

Sincerely,

President.

A HALF CENTURY OF SERVICE

Dr. P. H. Mayginnnes Retires From Active Practice After 51 Years of Service. Veteran Doctor Is Honored By Tulsa County Medical Society.

The Tulsa County Medical Society last month honored Dr. Patrick Henry Mayginnnes on the occasion of his retirement after fifty-one years in the active practice of medicine, of which the last forty have been in Tulsa. A resolution paying tribute to the diligence and faith with which Dr. Mayginnnes has served the community was approved by the Society's Board of Trustees early in April, and the privileges of honorary membership were granted by the Society at the regular meeting of April 26, 1948.

A graduate of the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons, Class of 1897, Dr. Mayginnnes entered practice the same year at Stillwater. Later he was to move to Cushing, Oklahoma where he encountered the rigors of practice as a country doctor. "Making a house call in 1897 was often something of a real journey," Dr. Mayginnnes reflects. "The roads were very poor, often bogged with mud and obstructed by small swift streams which had to be forded. Many times I drove fifteen to thirty-five miles to see a patient. Usually the doctor of those days made his calls in the late afternoon, driving a horse and buggy on the rounds, spending the night at a patient's home when darkness closed in."

Dr. Mayginnnes followed his brother, the late Dr. N. W. Mayginnnes, to Tulsa, arriving in the latter part of March, 1908. His first home was located at Seventh and Denver streets. "That was the outer edge of town then," Dr. Mayginnnes recalled. His brother lived at Sixth and Main streets in a pleasant home with a yard and trees, located where the Public Service building now stands. "How I should like to own that property today," Dr. Mayginnnes muses.

DR. P. H. MAYGINNES

For more than ten years, the two brothers practiced in a building located at First and Main streets, then the center of business activity in Tulsa. Later, in 1918, they moved to the Palace Building. Here Dr. Mayginnnes kept his offices until early this year. A general practitioner, he leaned more and more towards specialization in obstetrics in later years. Dr. Mayginnnes estimates he has delivered a very minimum of 3,000 babies during his half-century of practice. The names of these children have been recorded by Dr. Mayginnnes in a notebook, and many of the children are those of parents delivered by Dr. Mayginnnes.

Of the Tulsa physicians in practice in 1908, few remain. Dr. Mayginnnes recalls as one of the younger and most promising physicians, Dr. W. Albert Cook, now dean of Tulsa medicine and still in active practice after 51 years. Dr. J. E. Wallace was also in practice, and in 1909 came Dr. E. L. Cohenour, taken by death only last month. Dr. Fred S. Clinton, now in retirement in

A NOTE OF APPRECIATION

The Library of the Tulsa County Medical Society wishes to extend its particular thanks to a patron of long standing, Dr. Fred S. Clinton, whose interest and support of the Medical Library has contributed much to its progress. Dr. Clinton, an honorary member of the Society since his retirement several years ago, has presented the Library with copies of two of his recent historical works in the field of medicine, "The First Hospital And Training School For Nurses In The Indian Territory" and "University of Oklahoma Medical School Crisis." Both of these publications are reprints of material prepared by Dr. Clinton and appearing originally in The Chronicles of Oklahoma. A contributor to this periodical for many years, Dr. Clinton has written extensively about the early history of Oklahoma, and about the beginnings of medicine in the Indian Territory.

Born near Okmulgee in 1874, Dr. Clinton was the son of an early white settler and rancher of Oklahoma. His mother, Louise Atkins, was a cultured Southern woman of liberal education. Dr. Clinton was educated at Drury College and later received his medical degree in 1897 from the University Medical College of Kansas City. He is also a graduate pharmacist. Settling in the Red Fork area, Dr. Clinton practiced there for some time and later removed to Tulsa. Here, he became a leader in civic and social affairs. Dr. Clinton was active in the old Indian Territory Medical Society, a forerunner of the present Oklahoma State Medical Association, and served as secretary and later as president of the former organization. He was a founder of the old Tulsa Hospital, which opened in January, 1907, and later in 1915 organized the Oklahoma Hospital. Under his direction Tulsa's first school of nursing was opened at the Tulsa Hospital. A leading surgeon for many years, Dr. Clinton is a member of the American College of Surgeons and other national medical organizations.

The Committee wishes to thank Dr. Clinton for these volumes, both of which were published at his own expense, for the file of Chronicles of Oklahoma which he maintains, and for many other books and mementoes of historical interest presented in the past.

CANCER BULLETIN NOW AVAILABLE

The Oklahoma Division of the American Cancer Society has presented the Medical Library with a complete file of the first volume of the Oklahoma Cancer Bulletin, a monthly publication detailing the latest advances in diagnosis and treatment of cancer. This volume is bound in an attractive loose leaf folder and is now available for use by members. The Oklahoma Cancer Bulletin is being sent without charge to all Oklahoma doctors, and the first two issues together with the loose leaf binders are already in the mails. Monthly supplements will be received. The project is under the supervision of a special committee of the Oklahoma Division and includes Dr. Ralph A. McGill and Dr. Homer A. Ruprecht of Tulsa. The comments of Tulsa doctors concerning The Bulletin are welcomed.

NEW LIBRARY HOURS ANNOUNCED

The following new hours are now in effect for the Library of the Tulsa County Medical Society, 9:00 A.M. to 5:30 P.M., Monday through Friday, and 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M. on Saturday. The Library will be closed during the lunch hour of 1:00 P.M. to 2:00 P.M. daily. Members are requested to familiarize themselves with these new hours to avoid unnecessary inconvenience.

CURRENT JOURNALS MAY NOT BE LOANED

Under new regulations recently announced by the Medical Library Committee, current issues of periodicals cannot be removed from the Library reading room until the arrival of the subsequent issue. In this manner, the current issue is always available for inspection. After arrival of the next issue, the usual borrowing privileges will prevail. All current issues are to be found on the reading rack in the South room.

SUMMARY OF BORROWING REGULATIONS

In response to several inquiries, the regulations of the Library applying to borrowing privileges are printed herewith. All books and other material may be loaned for a period of ten days. Upon request, a renewal of one week will be granted. A fine of five cents is assessed for each day against each book kept beyond the due date. This fine is payable upon return of the book. The Librarian will notify all members who have over-due material, such notice being sent by postcard on the third delinquent day. All books and material lost must be replaced at the expense of the loser. Borrowing privileges may be withdrawn by the Medical Library Committee for failure to observe all Library regulations.

The Medical Library is designed for the exclusive use of members of the Tulsa County Medical Society, visiting physicians, and members of the resident and intern staffs of accredited Tulsa hospitals. Other persons wishing to use the Library must present a card signed by a member of the Society, who assumes responsibility for such persons. Lending privileges are not accorded to these persons except by permission of the Medical Library Committee. A visitors permit will be furnished to any person upon application to the Library, and will be honored when subsequently signed by a physician. These permits shall be good for a period of two weeks only. Members of the Society are advised to determine the purpose for which the Library is to be used, before authorizing admission of any person. The permit requires the purpose of the visit to be stated. No exceptions to this ruling are to be made.

AN INSTITUTION OF SERVICE

What services does the Library of the Tulsa County Medical Society offer to its members? You may—read latest copies of almost one hundred publications in all fields of medicine, secure a complete compilation of all information to be found in the Library upon a particular subject, consult any one of several thousand textbooks on all phases of medicine, obtain names and addresses of physicians in other parts of the nation (complete with information as to age, education, and specialty), secure specialized assistance in the writing of a scientific paper, purchase books through the Library at a discount, arrange for binding of your own personal books and journals, examine a collection of rare and historical medical books, borrow material from other medical libraries throughout the nation at the cost of transportation only, enjoy the privileges of a quiet and restful reading room, secure answers to medical questions of fact, obtain microfilms and stripfilms, borrow medical and surgical motion pictures, benefit from a selected library in dentistry and pharmacy, examine historical mementoes of Tulsa medicine, enjoy the many volumes of recreational reading material. All just routine services of your medical library.

The Medical Library wishes to invite the interns and residents of St. John's and Hillcrest hospitals of Tulsa to make full use of the Library facilities. These doctors have been accorded full Library privileges, for which there is no fee or other charge.

E. L. COHENOUR, M.D.

Dr. Elmer Ledley Cohenour, 63, prominent Tulsa urologist, died April 6 in Tulsa after an illness of several weeks. He had been in private practice here since 1909.

Born in 1884 in Pittsfield, Illinois, Dr. Cohenour was graduated from Northwestern University Medical School at Chicago in 1907. He completed his internship the following year and moved to Tulsa where he took an active part in civic affairs for many years. He was a member of the Rotary Club, several Masonic organizations, and long active in the Tulsa County Medical Society and other local, state, and national medical groups. After several years of general practice, he adopted the specialty of urology.

Funeral services were conducted April 8 at the First Presbyterian Church of Tulsa. Survivors include the widow, two sons, and one daughter.

BASIC SCIENCES COURSE ENTERS SECOND SECTION

Enrollments are now being accepted in the Executive Offices for the second section of the Postgraduate Study Course in the Basic Sciences, which opens Tuesday, May 4, at 7:00 P.M., at Hillcrest Hospital. All members of the Tulsa County Medical Society, as well as doctors in the surrounding area, are eligible to attend upon payment of the enrollment fee of $10.00.

Dr. J. D. Shipp, Chairman of the Postgraduate Study Committee, reported that reaction to the first series of twenty lectures had been very favorable with 77 Tulsa doctors enrolled. The series will continue for an indefinite period until the subjects in the basic sciences are fully covered. Lecturers will be drawn from the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine, except that Tulsa pathologists will present the section on pathology.

A specific number of lectures will not be guaranteed for the fee of $10.00, as with the first series. The exact number will depend upon the size of the enrollment. Meetings will be held each Tuesday, except that the meeting of May 18 will be suspended because of the conflict of the Oklahoma State Medical Association's annual meeting in Oklahoma City. Neither will lectures be held in June, July, or August, due to the hot weather, but will resume the first week in September.

Checks for enrollment should be made payable to "Postgraduate Study Fund" and mailed to the Tulsa County Medical Society, 1202 Medical Arts Building, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

In attendance at the Dallas Clinical Society last month were DR. ROGER Q. ATCHLEY, DR. H. H. PORTER, DR. MORRIS B. LHEVINE, DR. J. S. CHALMERS, DR. C. E. CALHOUN, and DR. LOGAN A. SPANN.

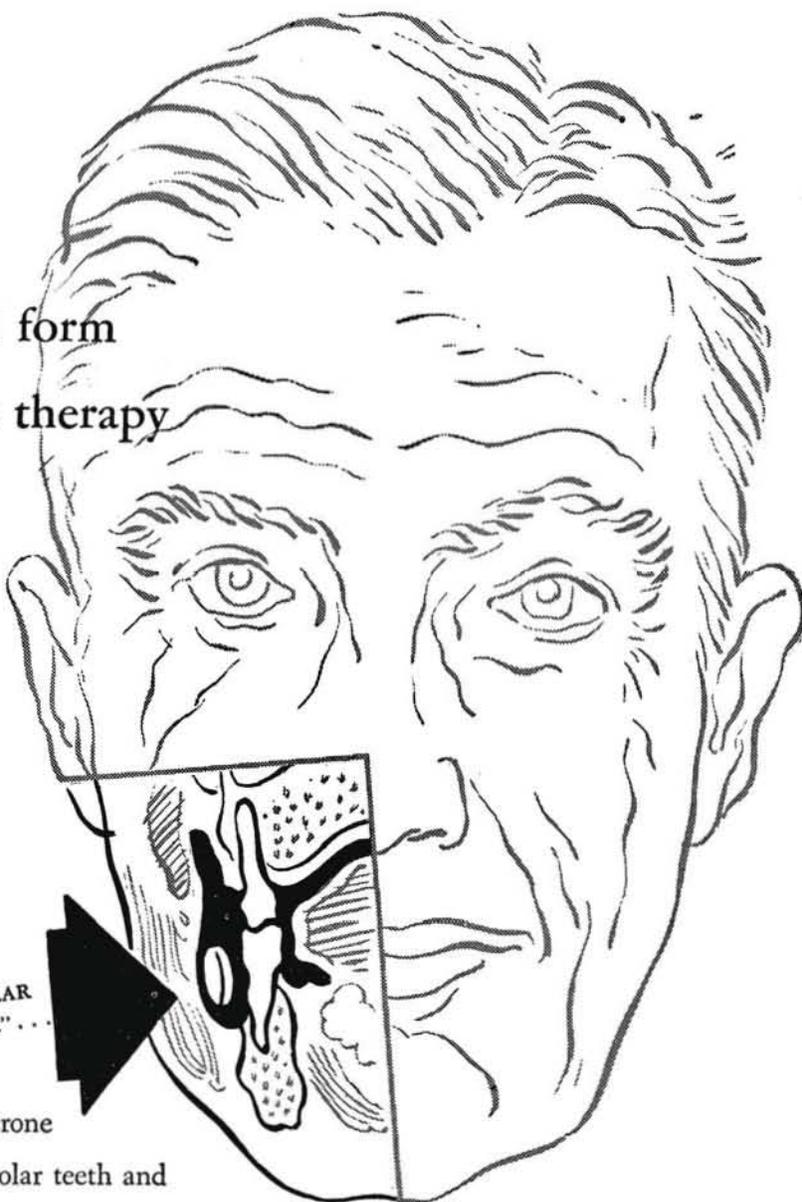

DR. HOMER A. RUPRECHT has returned from San Francisco where he attended the annual meeting of the American College of Physicians.

The Linguet containing methyltestosterone is placed in the space between the molar teeth and cheek, a natural buccal pocket. ## A GOOD BEGINNING

The Tulsa County Medical Society and its members are highly impressed by the efficient manner in which the newly appointed Public Health Committee of the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce has entered upon its duties. Dormant for two years, the Committee faces a multitude of problems, not the least of which are remedies for our serious lack of hospital nurses, reorganization of our City Health Department under qualified leadership, and the everpresent need for consolidation of our public health services. True, it will act in an advisory capacity only, but as a representative of the people the Committee will by its interest and influence draw attention to our public health needs and encourage satisfactory solution to such problems. The Committee has the advantage of good leadership — Charles Follansbee, young Tulsa attorney, is an aggressive community worker with a special interest in public health, well qualified to serve as Chairman. Dr. John E. McDonald, Vice Chairman, has long spearheaded medical and hospital activities in this area. With this type of carefully selected leadership, the Committee is assured of a well defined and prosecuted program.

In its membership, the Tulsa County Medical Society notes an unusually large number of physicians—unusual in a comparative sense for past Public Health Committees have not contained such a representation of the medical profession. Whether this has been due to the doctor's notorious failure to participate in civic affairs, or to a careless offhand selection of Committee personnel, we cannot say. Having long condemned the profession for its neglect of civic responsibilities, it is encouraging to find virtually all the physician-members of the Committee actively participating, assuming the responsibility of specific assignments, and exhibiting a genuine interest in the work which they are doing. We believe this to be a healthy sign, reflecting the medical profession's greater awareness of public responsibilities. The physicians, as well as the lay persons, who are members of the 1948 Public Health Committee of the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce are to be congratulated on a splendid, well-organized beginning. That their efforts will bear fruit in greatly improved public health and medical care seems to be a foregone conclusion.

ANNUAL MEETING

G. Stuard, Dr. K. F. Swanson, Dr. R. M. Wadsworth, and Dr. Charles A. Hulse. Dr. E. R. Marzek, Tulsa clinical pathologist, will appear by invitation.

Members of the Tulsa County Medical Society who do not have hotel reservations are urged to write immediately to the Oklahoma State Medical Association, 210 Plaza Court, Oklahoma City, stating dates, type of accommodation, and approximate time of arrival. The Executive Offices of the Tulsa County Medical Society will also place reservations for members. Telephone 4-8161.

All members must present their 1948 membership card in the Oklahoma State Medical Association to be admitted. A few members who have not paid their annual dues are reminded of this fact.

A program for the Ladies Auxiliary offers many interesting social and educational events.

TRI-CALSATE
The Buffered Gastric Antacid

The nucleus of the peptic ulcer problem lies in the neutralization of excess HCl in the stomach contents by an antacid that will meet the requirements of real physiologic and therapeutic economy. TRI-CALSATE has these advantages:

1. TRI-CALSATE neutralizes the HCl of the gastric contents and desensitizes the pain producing mechanism.
2. There is no evolution of carbon dioxide during the reaction in the stomach, hence the distress from gastric distention and belching is eliminated.
3. It does not make the gastric contents alkaline.
4. The possibility of the development of alkalosis is minimized.
5. The probability of gastro-intestinal irritation is remote.
6. It does not injure the kidneys.
7. It is palatable and convenient to take.

THIRTEEN TULSA DOCTORS STAFF CANCER CLINICS

Two mobile cancer clinics to be held in May will bring to an end the Spring series of the Oklahoma Division of the American Cancer Society's diagnostic clinics in the Eastern portion of the State. Both will be staffed by members of the Tulsa County Medical Society, who contribute their services without charge.

Scheduled for the May 27 clinic at Pawhuska are Dr. Harry Green, Dr. William F. Thomas, Jr., Dr. Ralph A. McGill, and Dr. John C. Perry. The following day, May 28, a clinic at Bartlesville will be staffed by Dr. V. K. Allen, Dr. Berget H. Blocksom, Dr. Walter E. Brown, Dr. James Stevenson, and Dr. Emil E. Palik.

Both groups will also participate in a roundtable forum on cancer before the Rogers County Medical Society and the Washington County Medical Society, meeting in the evenings of the same dates.

Participants in the Mobile Cancer Clinic at Cushing on March 19 were Dr. Stokes, Dr. Blocksom, and Dr. A. Ray Wiley. On April 27 at Okmulgee, Dr. Blocksom, Dr. Stokes, and Dr. W. A. Showman were participants. The clinic of April 28 at Tahlequah was staffed by Dr. M. O. Nelson, Dr. Logan A. Spann, and Dr. Wiley.

DR. MAYGINNES

Tulsa, had just opened his Tulsa Hospital.

Dr. Mayginnes was a member of the staff of the old Morningside Hospital, located for many years at 521 North Boulder in quarters now occupied by the City Health Department and Flower Hospital. A photograph made in May, 1923, and now hanging on the West wall of the Medical Library, pictures the Morningside Staff of that year. Dr. Mayginnes stands among a group of "youngsters"—Dr. R. Q. Atchley, Dr. James C. Peden, Dr. Henry S. Browne, Dr. Berthe Margolin, and others who were comparatively new in practice. Later, Dr. Mayginnes was a member of the staff of Hillcrest Memorial Hospital.

"I have practiced 51 of my 77 years," Dr. Mayginnes said, "and I wouldn't exchange a day of that experience. There has been a thrill and a deep pleasure in the practice of medicine that I commend to any young man who wants to serve his fellows. To me, medicine has been a satisfying life."

Any doctor having knowledge of fraud in the practice of medicine in Tulsa County is requested to refer such information to the Fraudulent Practice Committee of the Tulsa County Medical Society.
