Prejudice-Free Study Points the Way to Greater Comfort for the Menopausal Patient

Three groups of investigators were supplied with preparations labeled only by number. Although identical in appearance, the tablets had the following compositions:

- AE-1—Diethylstilbestrol, 0.25 mg.
- AE-2—Diethylstilbestrol, 0.25 mg., plus methyltestosterone, 5 mg.
- AE-3—Methyltestosterone, 5 mg.
- AE-4—Placebo

Investigators were told which was the placebo, but identities of the first three were not disclosed until the studies and reports had been completed. Thus, there could be no possible bias on the part of either physician or patient.

Clinicians found that the addition of androgen to estrogen (1) often affords an increased feeling of well-being, (2) tends to avert mild but unpleasant side-effects such as breast turgidity and pelvic congestion, and (3) usually prevents the complication of uterine bleeding. Preference for AE-2 ('Tylosterone') was expressed by two-thirds of the patients.

Full details of these studies are available. May we send you literature or samples?

The PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

"Life Is But A Multitude Of Hopes That Leads Its Victim To The Grave"
—H. C. Childs, M.D.

A friend, some one who knows all about you and loves you just the same.

It is not necessary that men of goodwill have the same religion, the same politics, profession, race, ancestral lineage to be friends. Neither is it necessary that one or both attempt to deceive by untruthful utterance as these are certain in time to become obvious.

Love and tolerance promoted by fear, sustained by threats, and nurtured by falsehood will in time destroy both parties. You cannot legislate love. A shotgun wedding is mighty apt to end in tragedy. The fowls of the air, the fish of the sea and the animals demonstrate selective biologic affinity. It is as scientifically absurd to preach universal homo sapien consanguinity by fiat, order, decree, or other force, as to suppose that the lion and the lamb, the oxen and the goat, the crow and the dove, or the guppie and the whale will by force become adaptive. Nature just doesn't work that way. Strength is not improved by adding weakness but it may be destroyed.

Recognition and encouragement of the latent ability should be exercised by our profession, realizing that you can't make something out of nothing. Where ability is found, where potential exists we should give our undivided cooperation in fostering its maturity. Our profession and our nation needs it.

It is simply amazing how much good can come from kind words, a friendly smile, a pat on the back. It is also pitiful how many hopes are destroyed, how many useful lives sacrificed on the altar of vicious criticism, ostracism and lying gossipers.

Among my souvenirs: Memories of Searle asking "Have we got the money?"; At the trustees meeting, Matt and Funk reclining in the plush chairs; Hardman smiling; Hoover arbitrating; McDonald campaigning for the Community Chest, Chamber of Commerce, or some worthy cause; Paul Strong signing the checks; McGill telling of his troubles in presenting a paper in Madrid.

My friends, it has been a pleasure and a privilege to serve you this year. My most sincere thanks and good wishes to each and every member and to our fine, honest, dependable, hard-working Executive Secretary.

May the spirit of Christmas permeate the souls of everyone and the motto of "Peace On Earth, Goodwill To Men" be our guide.

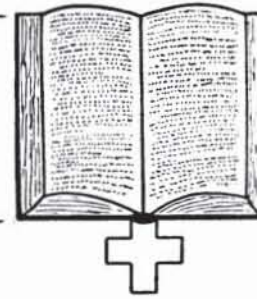

"Weakness Cannot Cooperate With Anything. Only Strength Can Cooperate."

Dr. Philip Thorek of Chicago, who has spoken before Tulsa medical groups twice in the last two months, has in his recent book Anatomy in Surgery correlated the basic anatomy as taught to the beginning medical student and the regional anatomy which is the essential basis of operative surgical technique.

He has divided the book into ten sections, each representing a region of the body from the scalp to the feet and each is treated separately. Each region is subdivided into the basic anatomy followed by surgical lesions and procedures which illustrate the anatomical detail being considered.

One of the fine features of the book is the large collection of excellent drawings, over 700 in number, by one artist. Many of these are in color and all are of such size as to be easily readable. The author's clear and informal style insures its readability.

DR. W. ALTON OCHSNER TO APPEAR AT 1953 CONVENTION

Three more nationally known medical personalities have been added to the list of visiting distinguished guest speakers for the 60th Annual Meeting of the Oklahoma State Medical Association in Tulsa, April 13-15, 1953, it was announced last month by Dr. Berget H. Bloxson, Program Chairman.

The new additions are:

Dr. W. Alton Ochsner, Professor and Head of the Department of Surgery, Tulane University School of Medicine, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Dr. Francis Braceland, Psychiatrist-In-Chief, The Institute of Living, internationally known psychiatric sanitarium and treatment center of Hartford, Connecticut.

Dr. Allan P. Bloxson, formerly Professor and Head of the Department of Pediatrics, Baylor University, and now in private practice at Houston, Texas. Dr. Bloxson won wide recognition for his development of a resuscitation instrument for incubation of the so-called "blue babies".

This brings the total of guest speakers to nine. A list of those previously committed to appear may be found in the October issue of The Bulletin. An endocrinologist is yet to be selected.

As this issue of The Bulletin went to press in mid-November, two-thirds of the available booth space for commercial exhibits had been sold. Dr. Milton L. Berg, Chairman of the Commercial Exhibits Committee, said a limited number of booths remained and would likely be completely sold by the end of the year.
