TUMOR CLINIC COMPLETES FIFTH YEAR

St. John's Tumor Clinic Records 6,473 Patient Visits In Five-Year Period. Malignancy Present In 60 Per Cent of Patients Seen.

St. John's Tumor Clinic of Tulsa observed its fifth anniversary on March 2, 1953, as a model center for the detection and treatment of cancer in the indigent patient of Northeastern Oklahoma. Of parallel importance has been its value in the training of Tulsa physicians and hospital interns and residents in the diagnosis and treatment of malignant diseases.

Figures released last month by Dr. Ralph A. McGill, Medical Director, indicate a record year for the Tumor Clinic in 1952. New patients admitted rose to 390, an increase of 41 over 1951, while follow-up visits for the same period jumped from 1,428 to 2,535. Since the opening of the Clinic on March 2, 1948, the Clinic received 1,573 new patients through December 31, 1952. An additional 5,901 follow-up visits brings the total Clinic visits for the period to 6,473.

The Clinic diagnosed 938 malignancies in the same period. Of this number 207 were reported in 1952, a substantial reduction from the 294 encountered in 1951 in a smaller number of patients. A five-year average indicates the presence of malignancy in about 60 per cent of the patients seen.

A total of 133 cases was admitted to the hospital in 1952 for 1,478 days of hospital care. Photographic histories were taken for 62 case studies. Through the use of funds made available by the Oklahoma State Health Department, 114 patients were admitted to the hospital for a three-day diagnostic work-up.

Although most hospital costs are paid from standard charity funds of the 23 counties from which indigent patients are received, St. John's Hospital has voluntarily contributed other items of expense to the Tumor Clinic program. The cost of x-ray therapy to 155 patients in 1952 was valued at $20,050.00. The Hospital also provided diagnostic x-rays for 194 cases at a cost of $2,955.00. Biopsies on out-patients accounted for another $2,050.00. The total contribution for these three services alone was $25,055.00 for the year. St. John's Hospital also makes available without charge the quarters which the Clinic occupies in the Waite Phillips Memorial Building. Some additional charity is provided through hospital costs not reimbursed from other sources. The principal financing of the Clinic itself is from funds allocated by the Oklahoma Division of the American Cancer Society.

Of the 390 new patients seen in 1952, 203 were from Tulsa county, 54 from Creek County, 31 from Rogers County, and 20 from Adair County. The remainder came from nineteen other counties.

The report of the Social Service Department of the Clinic contains the following items for 1952: follow-up letters to delinquent patients, 180; home visits with patients to follow through with physician and nursing recommendations, 4; number of new patient interviews, 200; interviews with patients admitted to hospital, 82; other related interviews, 195; patients referred to other agencies for counselling, 2; and patients referred to the Tulsa County Public Health Association for home nursing care, 4.

A Special Message
By Hon. Eugene J. Keogh
U. S. Congressman from New York

H.R. 10 and H.R. 11, the Jenkins-Keogh bills (formerly the Keogh-Reed bills,) have been drafted to alleviate the income tax discrimination against self-employed persons by encouraging the establishment of voluntary pension plans by individuals.

These bills represent a carefully studied attempt to provide the equivalent of Section 165 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code for the self-employed and the pensionless employed. Under that section, employers may establish employee pension plans approved by the Treasury Department, and deduct contributions to the pension plan from taxable income as current business expense. Such contributions, although actually constituting additional compensation to the employees, is not currently taxed to them, nor are the earnings from the investment of the funds. Instead, the income is taxed as it is received by the employee during retirement years, when income may be expected to be lower, and a lower tax rate will probably apply. More than 17 million employed persons are now participating in pension programs, 9.6 million of them under private retirement plans. The ten million self-employed should have equal treatment.

For the professional man, whose peak income is concentrated in a few years, income taxes on given lifetime earnings are likely to be higher than the taxes on the same amount of lifetime income earned ratably over a longer period of time, and his opportunity to save for his older years is thus severely restricted. The Jenkins-Keogh bills will make it possible for him to set aside a portion of his income for his retirement.

When public hearings are held on H.R. 10 and H.R. 11 (the Jenkins-Keogh bills), all of the self-employed will have a real stake in having them reported favorably by the House Ways and Means Committee. These bills do not amend the Social Security Act. The strength of these bills lies in the fact that while opening the opportunity for income tax postponement, comparable to that under employee pension plans, on funds set aside for old age, they do not discriminate in favor of the wealthy. The average pension for physicians, based on the Department of Commerce survey of their 1949 incomes, would be $208 starting at age 70. It would not be possible under these bills to finance a pension much in excess of $1,000 per month, beginning at age 70, not the traditional age 65. Two-thirds of the 17,000 plans approved under Section 165(a) permit higher monthly pensions.

The provisions of the Jenkins-Keogh bills would permit a self-employed person to exclude from current taxable income 10 per cent of the earned net income, or $7,500, whichever is smaller, providing it is used to purchase a restricted retirement annuity or is paid in a restricted retirement fund. Lifetime exclusions by any individual are limited to $150,000. The "restrictions" are that the fund will not be available until age 65 except in the event of complete and total disability, or in the event of death.

The fund is taxable when it is distributed, at the rates then applicable, or, if it has been held for at least five years, and is paid in a lump sum, under the capital gains tax. In the event of death, it is taxed as part of the decedent's estate and also constitutes income to the beneficiary, but there will be a credit against the income tax for the estate tax attributable to that portion of the estate.

There can be no motive other than retirement savings for participation under these bills. "Rainy day" contingencies must be met from other provisions. Yet these severe restrictions are necessary to insure that the bills accomplish their objective, income tax postponement, not tax avoidance, to the retired years. Under the bills, taxes would be postponed annually on an amount equal to about one-sixth of the amount now excluded by employers on account of annual payments into approved tax-deferred pension plans for their employees.

This is a voluntary pension system. Participation in it is completely dependent on individual initiative, rather than employer or governmental paternalism. It is the kind of program which is compatible with the independence of the individual proprietor or professional man. These bills have the support of the American Bar Association, the American Medical Association, the American Dental Association, and a score of other business and professional organizations.

The alternative to this program for the sake of equity would be the repeal of Section 165(a). Since the dissolution of the pension programs already devised to provide security for employees in later years is neither feasible or desirable, the case for equal treatment demands that the exclusion of the self-employed from the privileges of that Section be rectified by the passage of H.R. 10 and H.R. 11.

Desirable as these bills are, they will not become law until the Congress is awakened to the interest of professional and other self-employed persons in seeing that justice is done to them regarding private pensions. Every member of the Tulsa County Medical Society owes it to himself and his family to write his Congressman and Senators soliciting their support of this important legislation.

Sincerely yours,

House of Representatives,
9th District of New York*

ROCHESTER PSYCHIATRIST TO SPEAK IN TULSA MARCH 9TH

Dr. George E. Williams, nationally known psychiatrist and mental health leader of Rochester, Minnesota, will be guest speaker for the Tulsa County Medical Society on Monday, March 9, 1953 at 8:00 P.M. at The Mayo. His subject will be "Some Aspects of Emotional Development."

A second meeting of the Society has been scheduled for Monday, March 23, 1953, at 8:00 P.M. at The Mayo, at which time Dr. Ceylon S. Lewis, Tulsa internist, will present a paper entitled "Cor Tunonale—Physiologic and Therapeutic Aspects."

The second March meeting will compensate for the absence of a regularly scheduled meeting in April. As the Oklahoma State Medical Association will hold its 60th Annual Meeting in Tulsa, April 13-15, no meetings of the local Society will be held that month.

A native of Wisconsin, Dr. George E. Williams, speaker for the March 9th program, is a graduate of St. Louis University School of Medicine. He interned at the St. Mary's group of hospitals, St. Louis, Missouri. During World War II, Dr. Williams served with the United States Army Medical Corps and was assigned to the U. S. Veterans Administration Hospital at St. Cloud, Minnesota. After his discharge he completed a psychiatric residency at the U. S. Veteran's Administration Hospital of Minneapolis and later was a member of the staff of the same Hospital. For several years Dr. Williams was a member of the faculty of the University of Minnesota School of Medicine. In 1950, he was named Psychiatrist-Director of the Olmstead County Health Unit of Rochester, Minnesota. Dr. Williams has participated in many clinical studies of psychiatric problems in cooperation with Mayo Clinic psychiatrists, including Dr. Francis J. Braceland, one of the nation's best-known neuro-psychiatrists. (Dr. Braceland will be a guest speaker at the 1953 Annual Meeting of the Oklahoma State Medical Association in Tulsa next April 13-15.) Dr. Williams visited Tulsa last year as a member of the faculty of the Institute For Emotional Problems Of Children. He will be introduced by Dr. Paul C. Benton.

A special feature of the March 9th meeting will be a report on the activities of the Oklahoma Medical Research Institute and Hospital by officials of the Oklahoma City research center.

Dr. Ceylon S. Lewis, speaker for the March 23rd meeting, is a newcomer to Tulsa Medicine, having entered practice here in September, 1951. A graduate of Washington University School of Medicine, Class of 1945, he served with the United States Army Medical Corps and upon discharge completed a residency in Internal Medicine at the University of Utah College of Medicine. Later, he was awarded a fellowship in Cardiovascular Disease at Salt Lake City General Hospital. A specialist in Internal Medicine with a particular interest in Cardiovascular Diseases, Dr. Lewis was recently elected Secretary of the Tulsa County Heart Association.

A pre-convention business meeting will follow the scientific program at the March 23rd meeting.

The concluding Spring meeting of the Tulsa County Medical Society will be held on Monday, May 11, 1953, when Dr. Claude S. Beck, Professor of Cardiovascular Surgery, Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, will be guest speaker. His subject will be "Operation for Coronary Artery Disease."

DR. MARSHALL O. HART was elected Vice-President of the Oklahoma Academy of General Practice at the annual meeting of the organization at Oklahoma City last February 16-17. A former President of the Tulsa Academy of General Practice, Dr. Hart is now serving as Secretary-Treasurer of that group.

DR. NEVIN W. DODD has taken new professional offices at 1307 East 35th Pl. for General Practice.

PRESIDENT'S PAGE

Some very splendid work is being done by the Tulsa County Medical Society's self-owned and operated collection department, the Medical Credit Bureau. On the basis of collection figures for January and February, the fine record set by the Bureau's experienced personnel last year will be considerably bettered in 1953. Not only are results being obtained in terms of dollars and cents, but equal values are being derived from the good public relations which diplomatic and cooperative collection methods engender.

The Medical Credit Bureau was originally established fifteen years ago in protest of the stringent collection practices of many commercial agencies. It appears from reports coming to me from doctors and from patients that many of these abuses still exist today. One of the most common is the quick filing of judgment suits, a practice which may double the amount of the original account through the addition of court costs, interest, attorney's fees, and other extras. These additional charges must be paid first and for the most part go to line the pockets of the collector; if he is lucky, the doctor may receive a small fraction of the total amount actually paid. While such suits do have a legitimate value at the proper stage of the collection process, the indiscriminate filing as a means to additional income for the collector is a reprehensible practice. The backlash of bitterness from the patient-debtor seriously damages medical public relations and surely routes the profession on the road to socialized medicine.

I feel that we are doing a serious disservice to our patients and to ourselves when we patronize private agencies guilty of such abuses. Not all commercial agencies indulge in such practices. With the efficiency of our own Medical Credit Bureau clearly established, it seems to me that we have within our own Medical Society the ideal mechanism for handling delinquent accounts. With a personnel thoroughly aware of the problems of the profession and closely allied to practicing physicians, the Medical Credit Bureau can serve us effectively. We need not have any fear of the damaging practices which condemn many private agencies. This makes good common sense to me.

Sincerely,

President

STATE ASSOCIATION HONORS VETERAN TULSA DOCTORS

Gold pins commemorating the completion of fifty years in the practice of medicine were presented last month to two veteran Tulsa doctors, Dr. William J. Trainor and Dr. P. H. Mayginnes.

The presentation to Dr. Trainor, dean of Tulsa internists, was made at the Tulsa County Medical Society meeting of February 9th by Dr. Alfred R. Sugg of Ada, President of the Oklahoma State Medical Association. Dr. Mayginnes, now confined to his home by illness, received his pin through his daughter on the occasion of his birthday on February 10, 1953.

Dr. Sugg also presented certificates of Life Membership in the Oklahoma State Medical Association to Dr. Daniel L. Perry, Dr. Robert E. Lee Rhodes, Dr. L. C. Presson, all of Tulsa, and Dr. G. M. Davis, Sr., Bixby, and in absentia, to Dr. Richard R. Johnson, Sand Springs, and to Dr. Thomas B. Coulter, Dr. Silas Murray, and Dr. S. S. Mohrman, all of Tulsa.

Dr. Trainor, sixth Tulsa doctor to receive the 50-Year award, is retiring on May 1st after fifty years of active practice. Interrupting his medical education to serve in the Spanish-American War of 1898-99, Dr. Trainor entered the University of Maryland after discharge from service and graduated in May, 1903. He practiced for several years in West Virginia and came to Tulsa in 1915. Later he was to serve his country again in World War I and for many years afterward was active in the Medical Corps Reserve, rising to the rank of Major. Active in many civic and medical affairs, particularly in the development of Hillcrest Memorial Hospital of Tulsa, Dr. Trainor has held many organizational posts. Following his retirement he plans to travel and "catch up on a lot of reading I've always wanted to do."

Dr. Mayginnes retired in 1945 after having practiced in Tulsa for 47 years.

LIBRARY RECEIVES NATIONAL PUBLICITY

The Library of the Tulsa County Medical Society received nationwide attention last month as the subject of a feature article appearing in the February issue of Medical Economics. Written by Mr. Jack Spears, Executive Secretary of the Tulsa County Medical Society, the article recounted the history of the Library since its inception in 1932 when a group of Tulsa doctors founded a journal exchange club. Pointing out that medical libraries can be started through the cooperation of individual members and on a limited budget, the article suggested that other county medical society groups over the nation can duplicate the success of the Tulsa project. Quoted in the article are Dr. Robert E. Funk, Chairman of the Medical Library Committee last year, and Dr. Marshall O. Hart, President of the Society in 1952. Dr. Hart asserted the public relations value of the Medical Library was an important asset to overall program of the Society and also pointed out its merit in publicizing the capabilities of the local profession. Photographs accompanying the article show doctors at work in the North reading room. Reprints of the Medical Economics article have been ordered and will be available later this month.

DEAN OF TEXAS SCHOOL TO ADDRESS TULSA G. P. ACADEMY

Dr. George N. Aagaard, Dean of Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas, Dallas, Texas, will be guest speaker for the Tulsa Academy of General Practice on Monday, March 30, 1953, at 8:00 P.M. at the Tulsa Hotel. His subject will be "General Practitioners and Medical Education."

MENTAL HEALTH INSTITUTE SCHEDULED FOR MARCH 10TH

Of special interest to all medical doctors will be Tulsa's Second Annual Mental Health Institute to be held Tuesday, March 10, 1953, with Common Problems of Family Living as the basic theme.

The one-day study course will be similar to the highly successful Institute on Emotional Problems of Children held last May. Open to the general public, the program will have special appeal to physicians, marital counsellors, social workers, school leaders and personnel, nurses, ministers, and public health officials.

Guest speakers for the Institute will include:

Dr. George E. Williams, Director, Mental Hygiene Clinic-Olmstead County Public Health Center, Rochester, Minnesota.

Dr. Harold J. Binder, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry, Department of Pediatrics, University of Oklahoma School of Medicine, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Dr. Joseph E. Brewer, Director, Wichita Guidance Center, Wichita, Kansas.

Mrs. Esther Schour, Executive Secretary, Child Care Program, Institute for Psychoanalysis, Chicago, Illinois.

The project is sponsored by the Mental Health Committee of the Tulsa Council of Social Agencies in cooperation with the Tulsa County Medical Society, the Tulsa Child Guidance Clinic, the Tulsa Council of Churches, Tulsa P-TA Council, Tulsa Public Schools, Family and Children's Service, Juvenile Court of Tulsa, Oklahoma Association for Mental Health, the Oklahoma State Health Department, and the University of Tulsa. Dr. Wilkie D. Hoover of Tulsa is Chairman of the Executive Planning Committee.

Morning and afternoon sessions of the Institute will be held in the Student Activities Building of the University of Tulsa. The luncheon program will be at University Methodist Church, and the evening session, designed for the general public in particular, will be in the Auditorium of Will Rogers High School. Dr. Williams will be guest speaker for the latter program with "Common Problems of Family Living" as his topic. Questions from the audience will follow.

Persons desiring to attend the Institute are urged to register in advance. The registration fee for the morning and afternoon sessions is $1.00. Registration forms and a complete program have been mailed to all doctors. Additional registration blanks are available in the offices of the Tulsa County Medical Society, B-9 Medical Arts Building, Tulsa.

Attendance at last year's Institute neared 600 persons. It is expected that a similar figure will be reached this year.

Dr. Williams will be a guest speaker for the Tulsa County Medical Society on Monday, March 9th, the evening preceding the Institute.

DR. JOHN E. McDONALD was Toastmaster at the Annual Dinner of the Staff of St. John's Hospital on February 15th. Dr. Mark R. Everett, Dean of the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine, was guest speaker.

DR. RALPH A. MCGILL, Tulsa surgeon, has been appointed to the Oklahoma State Board of Medical Examiners by Governor Johnston Murray. Dr. McGill will succeed Dr. H. C. Weber of Bartlesville.

PRE-SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS SET FOR MARCH, APRIL

The Tulsa County Medical Society, in cooperation with the Tulsa Public School Health Service and the Tulsa City-County Health Department, has designated March and April as pre-school examination months. Parents who have children entering school for the first time will be urged to take them to their private physician during those months for examination and for any remedial measures indicated.

Forms for recording the examinations may be secured by parents from the principal's office of both city and county schools. These forms are also available at the offices of the Tulsa County Medical Society, B-9 Medical Arts Building, and the Library of the Tulsa County Medical Society, 1203 Medical Arts Building.

Physicians should instruct parents to present the completed medical examination record form and the child's birth certificate to school officials at the time the child enrolls in the Fall.

School health officials believe the Spring examinations preferable as not only is more time allowed for correction of defects or the hazard of surgery during the poliomyelitis season can be avoided. The cooperation of the private family physician is essential in this program.

Springer Clinic has lost two members of its medical staff to the Armed Forces. DR. ROBERT A. HAYNE has reported to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for indoctrination, and DR. OTIS S. LEE is now assigned to the Army & Navy Hospital, Hot Springs, Arkansas. Both were commissioned in the grade of Major.

DR. DEAN C. WALKER has been elected a Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine.

DR. CLIFFORD W. ALLEN is now on active duty with the United States Navy Medical Corps at the Naval Air Base.

DR. MAXWELL A. JOHNSON reports for active duty with the United States Army Air Forces on April 20, 1953. He has been assigned to units at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Illinois.

No, doctor, they're not all alike...

Combined Vaccines differ, too.

Only Cutter Dip-Pert-Tet Alhydrox[®] gives you all these advantages:

Alhydrox adsorption. Alhydrox (aluminum hydroxide adsorbed) is a Cutter exclusive that prolongs the antigenic stimulus by releasing the antigens slowly in the tissues to build more durable immunity.

Maximum immunity against diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus with uniformly superior antitoxin levels.

Fewer local and systemic reactions in infants because of improved purification and Alhydrox adsorption.

▶ High pertussis count — 45 billion Phase 1 H. pertussis organisms per immunization course.

▶ Standard Dosage — 0.5 cc. per injection, only three injections.

Supplied in 1.5 cc. vials and 7.5 cc. vials. Also available: famous purified Dip-Pert-Tet Plain — a product of choice for immunizing older children and adults.

Try it, compare it! You'll see why there is only one Dip-Pert-Tet
